Sub Shells West Coast Oil Plant as F. D. Talks

Santa Barbara, Cal.
Feb. 24 (AP)

An enemy submarine fired its reply to President Roosevelt's war address in the very middle of his chat last night—25 shells badly aimed toward an oil field and refinery near Goleta, seven miles north of here.

Witnesses said the shells presumably of the shrapnel type exploded large volumes of dirt from beaches and pastures, frightened horses into screaming madly—but hit only one well.

The pumping plant and derrick of that well were damaged. However, no fires were started. No one was killed or injured.

It was the first attack upon United States soil in this war, although Japanese submarines off the Pacific coast and German submarines off the Atlantic have sunk some ships and damaged others.

Witnesses said the first shell was fired at 7:10 p. m., and that the attack continued until 7:35 p. m. twilight.

The coast was blacked out at 8 p. m., from Goleta 25 miles south to Carpinteria. Radios only were silenced in the remainder of Southern California. The all clear was given at 12:12 a. m.

Several flares were sighted just off the coast during the blackout. Police at Ventura, 27 miles south of here, presumed they were sent in search of the submersible.

SAW LIGHTS FLASHED

Witnesses at Goleta said the submarine seemed to head south after it ceased firing. The Rev. Arthur Bushman of Pomona, visiting at Montecito, saw a vessel he thought was a submarine flashing signal lights as it left Santa Barbara channel about 8:30 p. m.

The Los Angeles District Press Relations Office of the 11th Naval District made public the following account of the shelling, obtained from S. W. Borden, superintendent

BATAAN LULL SEEN AS HOPE FOR M'ARTHUR

Washington
Feb. 24 (AP)

U. S. OFFICIAL

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

Hope that Gen. MacArthur's little army had succeeded in checkmating Japanese attacks in the Philippines completely for the time being, mounted in the capital today, as fighting came to a virtual halt.

(Meanwhile, on Bataan peninsula the Japanese resumed their attack with incendiary bombs, failing, however, to move their ground troops, the latest War Department communique said.)

Some informed quarters inclined to the belief that the defenders could hold their Bataan positions and the Manila Bay fortifications until the enemy brings additional reenforcements, particularly bombers.

A previous war comunique reporting that "fighting has died down on all fronts on Luzon" climaxed four successive weeks of feeling-out assaults and artillery dueling since MacArthur's men smashed the last full-scale enemy offensive.

ZERO-HOUR SEEN NEAR IN JAVA BATTLE

Feb. 24 (AP)

OFFICIAL NEWS

Urged by the governor-general of the Dutch East Indies to face the foe with "faith and an iron will," the Allied defenders of Java neared the zero-hour today in the battle for this last bulwark blocking the Japanese from the vital United Nations supply lines in the Indian Ocean.

There was no new official word on the situation in southern Sumatra and in Bali, where the invaders have wrested their latest footholds directly west and east of this island citadel in the face of stubborn opposition from outnumbered defense forces.

A brief Indies high command communique reported only fresh aerial blows at Java, the heaviest of which was aimed at military objectives around Bandoeng, Dutch army headquarters.

Three low-flying formations of enemy bombers, apparently without fighter escort, were greeted by a blasting barrage of anti-aircraft fire from Dutch guns and new British-made cannon, which gave the Japanese an explosive welcome. At least one bomber was shot down and others were damaged.

But in the face of this intensive fire the planes circled the city and then, swooping even lower, machine-gunned various parts of the town, causing a few casualties.

Japs Claim Capture Of Timor Airdrome

TOKYO (from Japanese broadcasts), Feb. 2: (AP)—Japanese forces which landed near Koepang, capital of the Dutch portion of the East Indies island of Timor, have occupied an airdrome 10 miles southeast of the town, Domei reported today in a dispatch from an "undisclosed base."

By JAMES E. BROWN

The London Evening Standard today published the text of a German radio broadcast announcing a gigantic Soviet counter-offensive and expressing grave fears over the fate of the German armies on the eastern front.

(Editor's note—This broadcast was not heard by the International News Service listening post in New York but may have been carried on an unfamiliar wave-length.)

"The Russians have launched a tremendous counter-offensive," the broadcaster was quoted as saying.

"The attack is the biggest of the war and the relief of Leningrad is expected momentarily.

"The Smolensk, Dnepropetrovsk and Sevastopol theaters are scenes of the bloodiest fighting in the history of mankind.

GERMANS' GREAT DANGER

"Our troops on the Leningrad front are in great danger.

"They have been forced to take up better positions farther west of the city.

"Germany cannot afford to yield another inch of ground. It would mean our death and destruction. We are fighting a colossal enemy that gives no quarter."

The Standard's report of the broadcast, easily the most sensational, if not the most pessimistic, to be heard from Berlin since the Russian counterattacks began, followed authoritative indications in government circles here that the Russians have launched a large-scale push along the entire front.

NEAR SMOLENSK

Capture of Dorogobuzh, announced by the official Soviet information bureau, means that the key railway between Smolensk and Vyazma has been cut, it was said. Dorogobuzh is less than 50 miles from Nazi-held Smolensk.

The Nazi broadcaster, according to the Standard, went on to say that hundreds of thousands of reinforcements from Siberia are now fiercely attacking German positions near Leningrad, in the vital Valdai hills sector, near Smolensk, in the Donets river region and in the Crimea.

This would mean an all-out offensive along the entire 1500 mile front.

Intensive battles raged east of Smolensk today as Russian dispatches reported the Red army surging on from Dorogobuzh, only 50 miles from the key city in the central front.

The retreating Germans were reported burning everything in the territory they yielded.

It told also of a solemn meeting of Red army troops in that sector yesterday to hear Premier Stalin's order of the day.

After hearing the phrase "Red banners must float over all occupied territory," the Red army commanders and soldiers took an oath to liberate all Nazi-occupied territory.

President in Tribute To Gen. MacArthur

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24—Of Gen. MacArthur and his men and their brave fight in the Philippines, President Roosevelt in his fireside chat said:

"We knew that the war as a whole would have to be fought and won by a process of attrition against Japan itself. We knew all along that, with our greater resources, we could outbuild Japan and ultimately overwhelm her on sea, on land and in the air. We knew that, to obtain our objective, many varieties of operations would be necessary in areas other than the Philippines.

"Nothing that has occurred in the past two months has caused us to revise this basic strategy—except that the defense put up by Gen. MacArthur has magnificently exceeded the previous estimates; and he and his men are gaining eternal glory therefor.

"MacArthur's army of Filipinos and Americans, and the forces of the United Nations in China, in Burma and the Netherlands East Indies, are all together fulfilling the same essential task. They are making Japan pay an increasingly terrible price for her ambitious attempts to seize control of the whole Asiatic world. Every Japanese transport sunk off Java is one less transport that they can use to carry reinforcements to their army opposing Gen. MacArthur in Luzon."

Gale Wrecks 2 U. S. Navy Ships, 189 Die

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (A.P.)—A United States destroyer and a naval stores ship have been pounded to pieces off the rocky east coast of Newfoundland in a roaring gale, the Navy announced today, with a loss of at least 189 officers and men.

Among the dead was Lieut.-Commdr. Ralph Hickox, 38, of Washington, D. C., who commanded the destroyer, the Truxtun, an old four-stacker of World War vintage. The commander of the stores ship, the Pollux, was not identified but the Navy reported him safe.

The heavy loss of life was attributed to the fact that the two ships, constituting a portion of a convoy, were torn to wreckage under the merciless battering of wind and wave very quickly after they ran aground.

RESIDENTS PRAISED

The double disaster occurred in daylight, but visibility was extremely low. The frothy currents set up by the dashing of the waters against rocks and reefs made the coast line indistinct and regular aids to navigation were obscured by low-sweepink scud.

The point at which the ships went aground was described as near the entrance of Lawrence harbor, on which is located the town of St. Lawrence, N. F.

Residents of that place were praised by the Navy for their heroic efforts in pulling such men as survived through the icy storm-tossed seas to safety.

The certain dead aboard the Truxtun were placed at seven officers and 90 men and there was a possibility that three more deaths would be confirmed later, the Navy said. Dead aboard the Pollux were one officer and 91 men.

WASHED ASHORE

The Truxtun was the same type of old destroyer as the Reuben James which was torpedoed and sunk in the North Atlantic off Iceland with the loss of 100 officers and men last fall.

The normal complement of the Pollux, a new 6085-ton merchant vessel which had been taken over by the Navy only last year, was not given.

Disclosure of the loss of the Truxtun, following closely on the Navy's announcement yesterday that the Coast Guard cutter Alexander Hamilton had been torpedoed and later sunk off Iceland with a "moderate" loss of personnel, was made in a communique which tersely described efforts at rescue and how difficult they were

CHURCHILL TELLS NEW WAR SETUP

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 24—Great Britain has suffered "a most serious increase" in shipping losses in the past two months, the enemy has a "waning" command of the sea and air and the empire's margin of safety in the Far East has been "notably" affected, Prime Minister Churchill reported to the House of Commons today.

But, he added in the course of a long review again defending his captaincy of the war with a new and streamlined cabinet:

"We have a right to look forward across a good many months of sorrow and suffering to a happy and reasonable prospect of complete and final victory."

Initiating another "full-dress" debate at the end of which another vote of confidence in his regime will probably be asked, Churchill made no attempt to paint a rosy picture.

PREDICTS HITLER'S END

He did, however, intimate closer co-ordination in the Far Eastern theatre by announcing that Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek has accepted invitation to join the Pacific war council. Chiang already has been appointed commander of all United Nations forces operating in China.

Other main points of his address included:

Disclosure that the Japanese have 26 divisions in the American - British - Dutch-Australian area.

TEXAS TANKER TORPEDOED, FEAR 5 DEAD

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 24 (AP)—An American-owned tanker, the 5287-ton Republic, of Houston, Tex., was torpedoed by an enemy submarine off the Atlantic coast with an apparent loss of five lives.

Twenty-eight survivors, two of them slightly injured, were brought ashore, the Navy announced today.

The 392-foot Republic was owned by the Petroleum Navigation Co. of Houston. The Navy did not make public the spot at which she was attacked by two torpedoes.

Three men were believed to have lost their lives in the engineroom. They were Carter Ray Ebbs, third assistant engineer of Houston, Tex.; Ernest R. Beverly, oiler, of New Orleans, and Jose Fernandez, a fireman, address unknown.

pledged $50,000 to Massachusetts' BUY-BONDS-FOR-BOMBERS campaign.

Their promise brings the Bay State campaign total up to $7,091,451 . . . a nice, satisfying-sounding figure, but far from enough to buy the bombers necessary to sweep the Axis off the earth.

MORE IS NEEDED AND YOU CAN HELP BY BUYING BONDS and STAMPS.

The VFW auxiliary, 6000 strong, gave their word through Mrs. Inez Goss of Holyoke, department president. She wrote:

"We are 1000 per cent behind the BUY BONDS FOR BOMBERS campaign sponsored by the Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser."

She called for every one of the 121 posts throughout the state to join in this drive. Mrs. Goss assured the BUY A BOMBER editor (5 Winthrop sq., Boston) that her organization will co-operate in any way possible to assure MORE BONDS FOR BOMBERS.

"VICTORY IN THIS BUY BONDS FOR BOMBERS CAMPAIGN IS THE ONE SURE WAY TO SECURE VICTORY FOR OUR ARMED FORCES," she said.

THEY KNOW WAR

These women . . . the wives, sisters, aunts, cousins and sweethearts of the men who fought overseas in World War I . . . know the heartache, worry and tears involved in war. They KNOW the men who offer their lives for their country ask only one thing . . . enough FIGHTING EQUIPMENT.

And, in this death struggle of democracy, the MOST important item of equipment is . . . BOMBERS, BOMBERS, and MORE BOMBERS!

They have a deep personal interest in helping the drive to BUY BOMBERS. Not only do many of them know the terrors of war from first-hand experience but today THEIR SONS are in the forefront of the battle.

NEW BRITISH WITHDRAWAL IN BURMA

LONDON, Feb. 24 (AP)—British troops have withdrawn to the west bank of the Sittang river after inflicting heavy casualties on the Japanese troops invading Burma, the All-India radio said today quoting official accounts.

The Japanese thus were within 20 miles of the Rangoon-Lashio raidroad that supplies the Burma Road.

Telling of earlier phases of the fighting in a four-day period, the All-India report said:

"On the southern front our troops withdrew on Fridays after several days of heavy fighting against fresh, reinforced enemy forces.

"Much of the fighting along the Bilin river was of hand-to-hand nature. Our troops counterattacked fiercely with bayonet and on many occasions inflicted heavy casualties on the enemy."

An announcement in New Delhi said the India commander, Gen. Sir Alan Fleming Hartley, had assumed direction of the bitterly-contested campaign in which the Japanese are approaching Rangoon and the railway that feeds the Burma Road.

The shift in command was said to have been one result of the visit to India of China's Generalissimo, Chiang Kai-Shek.

CHUNGKING, Feb. 24 (AP)—Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has returned from his all-important visit to India, a government spokesman announced today, after a flying trip foreshadowing the establishment of regular air transport as a new and important addition to China's supply lines of war material.

The need for such new routes has been emphasized by the closing of Rangoon as the "feeder" port for the Burma Road.

CHIDED BY MOTHER, GIRL, 13, SHOOTS SELF AFTER NOISY PARTY

Chided by her mother for giving a noisy party while her father was sick, 13-year-old Shirley Babb of St. Rose st., Jamaica Plain, today attempted to end her life by firing a bullet into her heart, according to police.

At Faulkner Hospital, where she is in serious condition, authorities feared she might not recover, due to loss of blood.

Her mother, Mrs. Mabel E. Babb, was quoted by police in a statement as saying the girl had several friends in the house last night and "I told her they made too much noise and stayed too late."

FOUND 2 HOURS LATER

The repriman was given at breakfast, police said, and the girl left the room quietly, got a .22 caliber revolver from her father's bureau, and went to the attic.

Mrs. Babb, who said she is hard of hearing, did not hear the shot which wounded Shirley in the chest.

It was not until two hours later that Shirley was found lying in a pool of blood on the attick floor.

Dr. Joseph Hogan of South st. was called and rushed the child to Faulkner hospital. On learning of the seriousness of Shirley's condition, Mrs. Babb collapsed and Dr. Hogan also attended her.

SISTER TELLS POLICE

Police were called and when a station officer checked by telephone while the ambulance was on the way to the house, Shirley's 17-year-old sister, Phyllis, answered:

"Hurry, my sister's just shot herself!"

One exploded shell was found in the gun by police.

Shirley is a student in the 8th grade of Mary Curley school, Jamaica Plain. School is closed this week for spring vacation.

3 BANKERS IN SOUTHBRIDGE ACCUSED OF JUGGLING CASH

Secretly indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy to misapply funds, three of five former officials of the Peoples National Bank of Southbridge pleaded not guilty and were held in $2500 each in U. S. District Court today.

They were:

Frederick J. Bye, 58, of Grand View ave, Worcester, former vice-president and cashier of the bank and a one-time state bank examiner.

Arthur E. Blanchard, 68, and Louis Blanchard, 66, both of Orchard st., Southbridge, brothers and former directors of the bank.

The president of the bank, Henry J. Steinberg of Providence st., Worcester, also was indicted on similar charges, but died of natural causes, prior to the return of the indictment, in a Worcester hotel.

The fifth man has eluded apprehension, and his name was withheld at the request of Asst. U. S. Atty. Edward Hassan.

According to Hassan, Steinberg and others formed a corporation for the development of real estate in connection with the construction of a new housing project in Worcester County and the building of a Worcester theater.

The original amount involved in what Hassan termed the "bad banking" of this enterprise totaled $200,000, but the amount on which the five were indicted was only $30,000. It was understood that the bank had been reimbursed for the rest.

No date was set for trial.

The investigation leading to arrest of the men covered more than six months and resulted in the appearance before the grand jury of a score or more prominent western Massachusetts bankers and businessmen.

Kelly Urges U. S. Lottery

In another plea for establishment of a national lottery to relieve taxes for financing America's war effort, former Lieut.-Gov. Francis E. Kelly today sent letters to Vice-President Henry A. Wallace, as presiding officer of the U. S. Senate and Speaker Sam Rayburn of the House of Representatives.

Kelly pointed out that "groups of taxdodgers that control gambling take billions of dollars every year from an American public that will always indulge in transactions involving luck and chance."

In his latest effort in behalf of a lottery, Kelly declared "Congress should not discuss enactins into law sales taxes, payroll taxes, increased income taxes, etc., until they first establish a nationally supervised lottery."

Under Kelley's plan, defense bonds would be given as prizes "thus making all the billions of dollars that would be spent by a gambling-crazed public immediately available for national defense."

BIG U. S. OFFENSIVE DUE TO START SOON, F. R. TELLS NATION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt admonished the American people last night to prepare themselves for further reverses on the war fronts, and even as he spoke an enemy submarine was raking a spot on the California coast with gunfire.

By the grimmest coincidence, the bombardment opened up just when Mr. Roosevelt reached that portion of his speech in which he declared the nation also could expect to suffer continuing losses from Axis undersea raiders in both Atlantic and Pacific "before the turn of the tide."

To speed the turn of that tide, Mr. Roosevelt called for "uninterrupted production" to build up an overwhelming superiority of war supplies for the ultimate grand offensives of the United Nations.

The President's voice was sharp as he stressed the two words—"uninterrupted production"—although he made no specific mention of the series of work stoppages which, for various reasons, halted war production in some industries yesterday.

At one occasion during the broadcast he was halted briefly by a cough, result of what is described as "a slight cold."

WORLD-WIDE WAR

Mr. Roosevelt was unaware of the California coast bombardment while he delivered his 35-minute radio address to the nation and to much of the world, but he said early in his talk that the battle ahead was "warfare in terms of every continent, every island, every sea, every air line in the world."

Immediate reaction was that such forays showed a poor understanding of American psychology, and that, instead of creating mortal terror, they would have the opposite effect of making the people fighting mad.

And a fighting mad people, many thought, would rise at once to the "prodigious effort" to which President Roosevelt summoned the United States last night.

"The task that we Americans now face will test us to the uttermost," the Commander-in-Chief declared. "Never before have we had so little time in which to do so much."

The President's address had both a somber side and an encouraging side.

The Axis, he reported, was exerting every ounce of strength, striving against time, in a supreme effort to destroy the lines of communications linking the United Nations, so the Allies would be isolated and then conquered one by one.

The United Nations had been forced to yield ground and might have to yield more, he acknowledged, but he added:

"Actually we are taking a heavy toll of the enemy every day that goes by."

Specifically, he said, "to date—and including Pearl Harbor—we have destroyed considerably more Japanese planes than they have destroyed of ours."

Moreover, Mr. Roosevelt disclosed, American forces in the southwest Pacific battle theater were steadily growing.

INTIMATES BIG AEF

Transportation difficulties had been immense, he said, "but I can tell you that in two and a half months we already have a large number of bombers and pursuit planes, manned by American pilots, which are now in daily contact with the enemy in the southwest Pacific.

"And thousands of American troops are today in that area, engaged in operations not only in the air but on the ground as well."

This was the first official intimations that a sizable vanguard of an AEF was on the scene of action.

BLASTS RUMORS

The President administered stern reproof to "the rumor mongers and poison peddlers in our midst" for "damnable misstatements" on American war losses

Mr. Roosevelt said the consequences of the attack on Pearl Harbor had been "wildly exaggerated" in "weird rumors" of staggering losses.

Cautioning the people against placing stock in unfounded gossip of this character, the Chief Executive promised that the country would be kept informed on the trend of the war.

"Your government," he declared "has unmistakable confidence in your ability to hear the worst, without flinching or losing heart. You must, in turn, have complete confidence that your government is keeping nothing from you except information that will help the enemy in his attempt to destroy us."

WILL TAKE OFFENSIVE

While acknowledging the reverses suffered to date, Mr. Roosevelt had this to say "once and for all to the people of the world":

"We Americans have been compelled to yield ground, but we will regain it. We and the other United Nations are committed to the destruction of the militarism of Japan and Germany. We are daily increasing our strength. Soon we, and not our enemies, will have the offensive; we, not they, will win the final battle, and we, not they, will make the final peace."

As proof of increasing strength, he reported that a careful survey of war production satisfied him the nation would attain the 1942 goals he set on Jan. 6 when he called for 60,000 planes, 45,000 tanks, 20,000 anti-aircraft guns and 8,000,000 tons of shipping.

For all Americans, the President set these three high purposes in the war effort:

"1—We shall not stop work for a single day. If any dispute arises we shall keep on working while the dispute is solved by mediation, conciliation or arbitration—until the war is won.

"2—We shall not demand special gains or special privileges or advantages for any one group or occupation.

"3—We shall give up conveniences and modify the routine of our lives if our country asks us to do so. We will do it cheerfully, remembering that the common enemy seeks to destroy every home and every freedom in every part of our land."

—FOR VICTORY: BUY BONDS—

"OFFENSIVE SOON"—The southwest Pacific, where he told the nation via radio a "large number of planes manned by American fliers" are now in contact with the enemy, is the section President Roosevelt points to on White House map. The President also told the nation the Allies would take the offensive soon . . . and drive on to victory.

Mrs. F. D. Has New Hair-Do

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt last night attended the nation's main George Washington dinner held to raise funds for the Democratic part, with a new hair-do modeled after that of the father of his country.

Parted slightly off left mid-center, her hair was brushed smoothly for about two inches and then dressed in several rolls beside her ears. The back hair was combed straight down to the nape of her neck, V-shaped and then turned under.

Mrs. Roosevelt's role was that of the silent wife of the head of the Democratic party. She sat at the center of the head table. She did not make a speech—nor was she introduced.

But with a map before her she listened—as did 1150 others, who had paid $100 a plate—to the President's broadcast.

F. D. in 'First Rate Shape'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 4(AP)—The White House said today President Roosevelt was in better health than he was last night when an estimated 61,365,000 adults or 78.1 per cent of the total possible adult audience in the U. S. heard his fireside chat.

This reception was slightly smaller than that accorded his broadcast Dec. 9, when 79 per cent of adult Americans listened in.

While the President spoke under difficulties because of a head cold, coughing often during last night's speech, William D. Hassett, acting press secretary, asserted that Mr. Roosevelt was in "first rate" shape today.

RADIO REPORTER CITES U.S. NAVY WEAKNESS

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, TUESDAY, FEB. 24, 1942

Martin Agronsky, National Broadcasting Co. correspondent at Sydney, Australia, broadcast sensational charges of the weakness of U. S. naval equipment and armament, which have resulted in an immediate investigation by the Navy Department and a House committee. Agronsky said his information had been obtained from a naval air lieutenant, whose name he did not reveal. His charges included these assertions:

Every time an American pilot takes off to meet the Japs, he knows if he is lucky he will be outnumbered by at least five to one. If he runs into the usual Jap attacking formation, the odds against him will be 15 to one!

If 1000 American fighter pilots and machines, and another 500 bomber pilots and machines were to arrive today the Allies would have a good chance of holding Java.

A warship (American) was convoying American troops somewhere in Java. Thirty-two Jap bombers bombed the convoy. The (warship's) anti-aircraft ammunition was 1930 and 1931 issue; when it had been tested a year ago, it was found to be only 30 per cent effective.

The full text of Agronsky's broadcast follows:

Today I arrived here from the Dutch East Indies, after a flight in a Dutch bomber, with a Jap air patrol over Java in the Indian ocean in the air I left behind me.

The Japs, with the capture of Singapore, had already accomplished the first phase of their drive for empire in the East East.

From the day I left Java they had successfully attacked and captured Pelambang in south Sumatra.

As I flew over the Indian ocean toward Australia the Japs made an attack on Bali, just over Java's southernmost tip.

ALLIED DEFENSE WEAK

The outcome of the Allied defense of Bali is not yet completely known. It would take an incurable optimist to doubt the ultimate result.

The Allied defenses there, as throughout the Far Eastern theater of war, are pitifully weak.

With Bali in Japanese possession, Java will sit in a dangerous sandwich.

From Sumatra across the narrow Sunda Straits to the north and Bali to the south; from Borneo and Celebes to the east, the Japs will be able to throw dangerous, powerful forces at the Allied defenders of Java.

The attack of Java, already begun from the air, is what can be described as the second phase of Japan's Asian offensive, that is the capture of the Netherlands East Indies.

In Java I spoke with the commanders of the American and Dutch forces. They did not conceal that the battle will be a grim fight against tremendous odds.

ODDS AGAINST AMERICANS

I spoke in Java, too, with American sodiers, sailors and airmen, with the fighting men of Britain and Holland. They echoed the words of their commanders. On the lips of every man were the words, "Against tremendous odds."

You must realize at home exactly what your sons and husbands are fighting against in this part of the world.

You must know that every time an American pilot takes off to meet the Japs, he knows before his machine leaves the ground that if he is lucky he will be outnumbered by at least 5 to 1.

If he runs into the usual Jap attacking formation, the odds against him will be 15 to 1.

You must know that when land fighting starts in Java the odds will be equally great; that in the seas throughout this entire area the sailors of the American and Allied forces today, as in the first days of the war, have to face equally overwhelming odds.

I do not know whether Java can be held.

PLANES COULD DO IT

If 1000 American fighter pilots and machines, and another 500 bomber pilots and machines were to arrive today the Allies would have a good chance of holding Java.

Failing that alone, the most brilliant Allied generalship, or the most bungling kind of Japanese generalship, could make Java's fate uncertain.

The Allies have yet to produce a brilliant general. The Japanese have yet to make a misstep in a (inaudible word) and expertly conceived and executed campaign.

Java today means two things to the Allies.

First, it provides, with the exception of Burma, where the Allied forces are steadily being pushed back, the only land base from which an aerial offensive operation on a large scale can be undertaken against the Jap land, sea and air forces in this part of the world.

If the Allied forces are pushed back to Australia, we will be forced almost completely on the defensive.

Second, it provides the only defensive base from which the Allies can threaten or hamper the Japanese concentration of all available forces in the southwestern Pacific for an attack on Australia itself.

AUSTRALIA NEXT

The fight for Java has begun. If Java falls the fight for Australia—what must be recognized as the third phase in the Jap drive for empire in Asia—lies in the immediate future.

There is no important speculation as to whether Java will or will not hold in the next couple of weeks. Perhaps even the next few days will decide that.

What is vital is that for once the democratic nations do every thing in their power, while there is still a lot of time, to create at least forces that will have a fighting chance of holding the Japs' victorious promenade to complete possession of the Far East.

The Japs are not supermen. They can be stopped if the lessons of morale and in fact of the entire Far Eastern campaign are not only recognized but put to use.

In Malaya the British were not only outnumbered but outsmarted and outgeneraled.

Even admitting the original underestimation of the Japs' strength put the British forces at a vital disadvantage, it still remains true that from the first days of the campaign, the Japs gained nearly as much from enemy bungling as through their own well-executed attacks.

SCORCHED EARTH POLICY

Time and again, in the course of the British retreat, lack of organization gave the Japs intact air fields, petrol stores and ammunition depots. The record can be found in the British communiques themselves.

Time after time, the official communiques announced the evacuation of air fields with the customary addendum:

"Our forces destroyed petrol stores, hangars and rendered the air craft unusable."

Then a few days later, again an official communique announced that the British planes had successfully bombed a number of unusable hangars, runways and petrol stores of the, I quote, "successfully evacuated airdrome."

When I left Singapore, some two weeks ago it was on board an Australian warship.

On the docks of the naval base I saw thousands of pounds of war material, unprotected, undispersed, a perfect target for the Jap bombers.

Out in the Indian Ocean our warships picked up a large convoy that for weeks had been on the high seas en route to Singapore from England.

On board one ship of the convoy were a large number of RAF ground personnel accompanied by a large number of fighter pilots, veterans of the Battle of Britain.

BLUNDER ON SHIP

In another ship were the crated planes that the pilots were to fly.

My ship and other warships took the convoy southward through the Banda Straits off Sumatra and into Singapore in the face of continued Jap bombing attacks.

Three days later, in Java, I met one of the pilots. From him I learned that due to some stupid fatal blunder the ship's destination had been mistaken.

All the way out from England, the pilot told me, the men on board voluntarily organized their unit so that they would be ready to go into action immediately they landed in Singapore.

They had gotten in England a detailed may of Singapore islands. Realizing that the airdrome might be unusuable, they had laid out on their maps streets from which they could take off with fighters.

On the long cruise they had drilled on board ships until they were letter perfect in the use of the Beaufort and Tommy guns carried.

Every detail of assembly of the crated planes had been worked out beforehand. They believed they could have their planes in the air and be functioning as an operational unit within 24 hours of landing.

TROOPS NOT EXPECTED

When these men arrived in Singapore they found no one at the docks who even knew they were expected.

After much searching they reached an RAF headquarters officer and asked that they be allowed to go into action immediately.

Instead, they were informed that as they were apparently not expected in Singapore, they could not operate there, but would have to go to Java and receive instructions from the high command.

All of this time their ship was being heavily bombed at the dock.

They finally got back to Java. I cannot reveal the number of their casualties.

The pilot officer ended this story with the laconic remark:

"It did not improve the morale."

This is one example of an innumerable series of similar incidents.

And on the American side, there is an equally pretty story.

A few minutes after my plane landed at a small town, an American naval plane came in. An American naval lieutenant and a general were in the plane.

JAPS GET INFORMATION

The pilot told me he had flown to shore from an American warship, which I cannot name.

The warship was convoying American troopships somewhere in Java. When the convoy was six hours at sea, the warships picked up a Jap broadcast from Tokyo accurately describing both the makeup of the convoy and its destination.

Two hours later 32 Jap bombers appeared overhead and bombed the convoy. The Japs hit one of the gun turrets of the warship.

The 20-year-old machinist's mate went into the gun turret, which was stacked with 6-inch shells, and filled with flames from burning powder bags.

The shells were red hot and could have exploded at any moment.

INDUCTION OF DRAFTEES SPEEDED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (INS)—Moving to speed up expansion of the armed forces, selective service headquarters today announced that henceforth registrants will only be given a notice of induction instead of the present notice to report for physical examination.

Officials explained that the move would eliminate the present time lag between notice and induction. However, in cases where this system would cause undue hardship such men will be given an immediate furlough to adjust their civilian affairs.

In the past, men were given a week to 10 days in which to wind up their affairs after they once passed the Army medical examination.

"Although the final physical examination by the Army will continue to be the most thorough one given to registrants, the local boards will continue to give 'screening' examinations, rejecting the obviously physically unfit men," the announcement said.

Officials said that under the new procedure registrants will have the same rights of appeal and right of personal appearance before their local boards as they are allowed at present.

Residents to Get Salvage Cards

The Boston salvage committee's drive to acquaint residents of the city with the materials which should be saved for the war effort will get under way tomorrow when 5000 Boy Scouts begin the distribution of cards and pamphlets to the 200,000 homes in Boston.

Chairman of the committee, Public Works Commissioner George G. Hyland, announced today that the pamphlets will describe the materials most needed and the prices to be paid for them by junk dealers. The cards are to be placed in the window when material has been accumulated to attract the attention of the dealers.

As this is vacation week for the Boston schools, Hyland expressed the hope that a number of school children would volunteer to aid the Scouts in the distribution.

Anti-Semitic Leader Taken Off Naval Job

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—The Navy has branded George E. Deatherage, former national commander of the Knights of the White Camellia, as "an undesirable person" to work on Navy contracts, and ousted him from the Hampton Roads naval establishment where he was employed as a construction engineer.

Deatherage acknowledged contacts with the German embassy and with Nazi propaganda sources when the Dies committee investigated his activities in 1939. He has recently been employed by the contracting firm of Doyle & Russell on a $7,000,000 project at the Norfolk, Va., naval base.

INVOKES CONTRACT

"After an investigation of the activities," of Deatherage, the Navy announced, "the Secretary of the Navy has invoked that provisions of Article 27 (C) of the contract, which requires that the contractors shall discharge from employment and exclude from the site of the work any person designated by the Secretary of the Navy as undesirable to have access to the work and/or materials of the Navy Department.

"Based on competent investigation, the Secretary of the Navy has found that Mr. Deatherage is an undesirable person within the meaning of the contract, and as such will be excluded from the site of Navy work."

Beating Kills Hingham Boy

A verdict of death due to a beating was returned today by Medical Examiner Dr. William E. Hines in the case of 4-year-old Arthur Pierce, of Hingham, who died in what previously was described as a fall from a table while visiting a Nantasket playmate.

Dr. Hines listed a hemorrhage of the brain as the cause of death, but said the child's arms and back were so covered with bruises that a hemorrhage was caused along the entire course of the spine.

Police, meanwhile, were attempting to locate the boy's mother in the South End of Boston.

GIN RUMMY---HOW TO PLAY IT

By Josephine Culbertson

Josephine Culbertson, famed authority on gin rummy, the fascinating card game now sweeping the country, tells you today how the game is actually played.

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

There are rules for playing Gin Rummy with three, four or more players, but these are little more than systems of scoring. The actual game of Gin Rummy is always two-handed, and if you know the two-handed game you can play without difficulty in any of the larger games.

The following record of a game will illustrate the scoring procedure.

You and your opponent cut for deal, and he cuts the low card and deals the first hand. After each of you has drawn and discarded a few times, you have the following hand:

6-6-5 (any suits)
Spades K-Q-J
Clubs 9-7
Diamonds A, Heart 2

Six of your cards are matched. Your four unmatched cards total 19. Then you draw the ten of spades. Now you can discard the nine of clubs and knock with an unmatched total of 10—a seven, a deuce and an ace (ace counts for one).

The proper procedure is to make your discard face down, and rap on the table with your knuckles. Then you spread your hand, separating your matched sets from your unmatched cards. The hand you spread must contain exactly ten cards.

You must be careful not to miscalculate and knock with a "count" of more than 10. If you do this the game goes on, but you must play thereafter with all your cards exposed. When your opponent can see your hand he had a tremendous advantage.

OPPONENT'S HAND

Now, you have knocked, and your opponent shows this hand:

Heart Q-J-10-9
Spade 9
Club 8 Diamond 8-6
Heart 4-3

His sequence of hearts does not count against him. He lays off the nine of spades on your sequence, and the six of diamonds on your three sixes. His unmatched cards now total 23. You had 10, so you win 13 points.

On the next hand you knock with 4. But your opponent also shows up with 4 and ties you. For this he gets a 10-point bonus. He scores the 10 points and wins the second hand.

You win the third hand by 16 points. At this stage your score sheet looks like this:

You	Opponent
29

Observe that while you won your second hand by only 16 points, in scoring it you put down the cumulative total. This practice permits you always to know how close you are to the 100-point game.

The next hand, you go gin, all of your cards being matched, and your opponent has 16 points in unmatched cards. You get 20 points for going gin, plus 16, winning the hand by 36 points.

END OF GAME

On the next hand, your opponent beats you by 21 points. Then you win two hands in a row, by 14 points and by 27 points. This brings your total up to 106 and ends the game:

You	Opponent
29	31
65
106

You have scored 75 points more than your opponent. With your game bonus and your "box" bonuses added, the total you win is as follows:

75 Difference in scores
100 For winning game
60 "Box" bonuses

235

USING UNIT SYSTEM

Many players like to simplify the scoring by using the "unit system." Under the unit system, at the end of the game scored above, the final figure would be dropped from your 106 points and from your opponent's 31 points, so you would have 10 points to 3, and would win 7 points.

Then you would add 10 points as your game bonus and 6 points as your box bonus. Your total winning would be 23 points.

Some Gin Rummy games end in a draw. This happens when only two cards remain in the stock (the undealt portion of the deck) and neither player has knocked.

A player is not permitted to draw one of these last two cards. Instead, the players abandon their hands and a new hand is dealt.

Tomorrow: When To Knock. In the third of this series of twelve articles explaining the Culbertson System of Gin Rummy, you are told when and why to knock.

Argentine Official Wounded in Duel

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 24 (AP)—Raul Damonte Taborda, 32-year-old chairman of Argentina's "Dies committee," was wounded twice in his chest today in a saber duel with Enrique Rottjer, retired Army officer whom he had criticized. Rottjer, 51, formerly was acting governor of Buenos Aires province, and Damonte Taborda had said in a campaign address that the colonel was a disgrace to the Army uniform.

The combat was fought on a private estate outside the city. Rottjer also was wounded once in the chest and twice in the right arm.

Goose and Duck Feathers Held for War Orders Only

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Use of goose and duck feathers was restricted today to war orders, mainly for Army sleeping bags.

Some plain facts about Colds
and VITAMINS

1. Ah-ah-ah-choo! There goes Bill again. Are you like him, a pushover for colds? Or like George, who takes precautions and breezes right through with hardly a sniffle? It's often a question of resistance, doctors say. And colds are no small problem, either. The money they cost each year would buy a $25 Defense Bond for every American!

2. Keep up your resistance! Get plenty of sleep, eat good food, take lots of exercise. And be sure you get enough vitamins and minerals. If you've been low on them, they may help you amazingly. They help you keep fit, fit to fight off a cold. Today there's a new way to get your vitamins and minerals—just take Vimms. They're little tablets, easy to swallow, pleasant to eat.

3. Not 1 or 2, but 6 vitamins are essential, nutritionists agree. No one vitamin can do the work of another. Vimms give you all you may need of all six! Plenty of A and D! All three important B Complex vitamins (B$_1$, B$_2$ and P-P). Vitamin C, too. You also need their mineral allies. So Vimms give you Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron. Add Vimms to your diet daily.

4. Does this mean you? Government experts estimate that 3 out of 4 need more vitamins and minerals. Figure your own chances. Do you tire easily? Get irritated quickly? Feel "blue" often? Then you may be low on vitamins and minerals. And when you get enough to help fight off a cold, you may feel worlds better. Isn't it worth a few pennies a day to find out? Vimms cost less than any product of comparable type and potency.

State Ready for War, Gov. Saltonstall Says

Massachusetts is prepared for war as well as any state, with every man, woman and child girded for the days ahead.

This was the message of Gov. Saltonstall as guest of honor at the 56th annual Washington's Birthday celebration of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in Faneuil Hall. Mayor Tobin delivered the oration on George Washington and declared that one of the hero's greatest victories was won at Dorchester Heights.

Waldorf CAFETERIAS
AT THE SIGN OF THE RED APPLE

Listen to the calls for our
RHUBARB PIE

SOMEHOW WE KNOW THAT spring is in the air and that warmer and more pleasant weather is not far off when first we see those luscious rhubarb pies on Waldorf counters.

● For in spite of the snowdrifts and ice, and the very vivid recollections we all have of the rigors of the past few months, the tartness of absolutely fresh rhubarb puts us in mind of warm sunshine and thousands of growing things that Nature is soon to give us, seemingly in effort to replace the dreariness of the winter months.

● Rhubarb, like the swelling buds on the trees, seems to be one of the first signs of spring.

● Now I hope everyone understands that Waldorf rhubarb pie is something very, very special. Perhaps the best proof of this is to stand by our counters at rush hours, any day now, and hear the orders being passed . . . "rhubarb pie" . . . "rhubarb pie," time after time. It's been going on like that every spring for thirty years!

● It may be it's because the rhubarb we use is so fresh and juicy, with all the fine earthy flavors still clinging to it . . . or because of the delicate flaky crust that simply melts in your mouth. Or it may be because we are baking pies twice each day, and that rhubarb pies above all others, should be fresh out of the oven, the way Waldorf serves them.

● There's quite a difference in rhubarb pies. Order a cut of ours today, and see if I am not right!

New U.S.-British Pact For Post-War Policy

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (INS)—Representing a momentous development of far reaching military, economic and political importance, the White House today announced that the United States and Great Britain have signed an agreement designed to serve as the practical basis for the better world order it is hoped to establish when this war is over.

The agreement pledges both countries to render mutual aid to one another until victory is won, and provides for Great Britain's acceptance of Secretary of State Hull's liberal trade principles as the basis for the post-war international economic system.

It is so phrased as to be effective even after the war, and to serve as the foundation stone for the association of nations which the Administration has in mind.

It declares that "the defense of the United Kingdom against aggression is vital to the defense of the United States of America." Although intended as a preliminary agreement to a more permanent understanding for the "establishment and maintenance of world peace," the mutual aid pact has no time limit and will continue in force "until a date to be agreed upon by the two governments."

ACCEPT HULL PRINCIPLES

It is open to the adherence of all other nations willing to accept its principles.

Under the military terms of the agreement the United States reaffirms its "purposes to supply aid to Great Britain," and Britain in turn promises to "supply this country with such reciprocal aid as it is in a position to give."

The British promise of aid and acceptance of Secretary Hull's economic principles is given in return for the lend-lease and other assistance which the United States has rendered Britain since the outbreak of the European war, and which it has promised in the future.

A White House statement explaining the agreement said it is intended to lay down "certain principles" since it is too early in this struggle to foresee or define the precise and detailed terms "of any final settlement by Great Britain for American aid in this war.

"These principles are broadly conceived," the White House statement added, "for the scale of aid is so vast that narrow conceptions of the terms of settlement would be as disastrous to our economy and to the welfare of our people as to the welfare of the British people. Articles which at the end of the war can be returned to us and which we wish to have back, will be returned. Full account will be taken of all reciprocal aid."

TO REDUCE TARIFFS

This is in line with the government's position that the American people cannot expect to receive full repayment for aid to Britain in terms of dollars and cents, or even in goods, but must be prepared to accept intangible values, such as Britain's adherence to America's economic policy and the use of British bases should they be required for this country's national defense at any time in the future.

The agreement starts off with a joint declaration by the United States and Great Britain that they are "engaged in a co-operative undertaking, together with every other nation or people of like kind, to the end of laying the basis of a just and enduring world peace securing order under law to themselves and to all nations."

The agreement contains eight articles. Under Article Seven Great Britain agrees to accept Secretary Hull's economic principles.

This article also provides for agreed action by both countries to bring about "the elimination of all forms of discriminatory treatment in international commerce and the reduction of tariffs and other trade barriers."

The agreements were signed at the State Department yesterday afternoon by Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles and British Ambassador Lord Halifax.

CHURCHILL PREDICTS VICTORY IN 4TH OR 5TH YEAR OF WAR

Prediction that Germany may go under "in the fourth or fifth year of the war" even though some Nazi-conquered territories still lie under Hitler's thrall.

73,000 LOST AT SINGAPORE

Revealing that Singapore was reinforced by nine convoys embracing 40,000 men, Churchill said:

"We have to face the fact we have lost a whole army."

(At least 73,000 British and Australian troops were captured at Singapore, Viscount Cranborne, new colonial secretary, announced in the House of Lords today.)

Start of the two-day debate followed the usual course, with anticipated charges of slackness and complacency and allegations that a red-taped bureaucratic machine is endangering the war effort. Churchill again was criticised for failing to deal properly with the Singapore and Scharnhorst affairs or with the reorganization of his government.

There were numerous appeals to the prime minister to "get to grips" and deal courageously with the problem of India's demand for dominion status.

(In the House of Lords Lord Cranborne also declared "the government is in favor of India's political freedom."

Referring to the recent changes in his government, Churchill declared:

"I am sure they have achieved a more tensely braced and contained administration to meet the new dangers and difficulties which are coming for us . . .

"The retired ministers have no greater share of responsibility than the rest of the administration in the disasters which have befallen us in the Far East."

AFTER-WAR PERIOD

Announcing that the government intends to submit a scheme for post-war reconstruction, the prime minister said:

"Even though we must now prepare ourselves for evident prolongation of the war through the intervention of Japan . . . no one can be sure that, as in the last war, victory may not come unexpectedly upon us."

The Prime Minister said he was unable to expand newspaper reports regarding the loss of Singapore.

"I will not attempt to pass judgment, which would be unseasonable and a very ungracious task," he said. "We have more urgent work to do."

Defining his own functions in the reconstituted government, Churchill defended his decision to retain the post of minister of defense.

"As long as I retain the confidence of the House and the country," he said, "and however tempting it may be to step aside and let someone else take the heavy and repeated blows which are coming, I do not intend to adopt a cowardly course . . .

HARD SLEDDING AHEAD

"We must expect many hard and adverse experiences which will be all the more difficult to bear because they are not accompanied by a sense of imminent danger—that feeling of being in the business ourselves which brought out the essential qualities of our people a year ago.

"The ordeals through which we will have to pass will be tormenting and protracted. But if everyone goes on in unrelenting effort and resolve and if we don't weary by the way or fail our Allies, we have a right to look forward across a good many months of sorrow and suffering to a happy and reasonable prospect of complete and final victory.

"Without winning sensational victories we may win the war. It is not even necessary to push back the German lines over all the territory they have absorbed. The Germans may be more fatally defeated in the fourth and fifth year of the war than if the Allies had marched into Berlin the first year."

With regard to the Far East, he said:

"If having entered a war yourself ill-prepared and struggling for life against two well-armed countries, one of them possessing a most powerful military machine, and a third major antagonist with far larger military forces than you possess suddenly springs upon your comparatively undefended backs, obviously the task is heavy and the immediate experiences disagreeable.

"Supplies and forces sent to the Far East have been diverted to theaters where they are needed. Our margin of safety has been notably—but I trust not decisively—affected.

"If we look forward across a considerable period of immediate punishment through which we must make our way to the broad and major aspects of the war, we can see very clearly that our position has been enormously improved . . . due to the wonderful strength of Russia and to accession of the United States, with its measureless resources, to the common cause.

"Beyond this phase of tribulation, which may be shorter or longer in accordance with our exertions and behavior, there arises the prospect of ultimate victory for all the United Nations."

WHAT! A girl training men to fly for Uncle Sam?

● The name is Lennox—Peggy Lennox. She may not look the part of a trainer of fighting men, but—

She is one of the few women pilots qualified to give instruction in the CAA flight training program. And the records at Randolph and Pensacola of the men who learned to fly from Peggy show she's doing a man-sized job of it. She's turned out pilots for the Army . . . for the Navy. Peggy is loyal to both arms of the service. Her only favorite is the favorite in every branch of the service—Camel cigarettes. She says: "They're milder in every way."

DON'T LET THOSE EYES and that smile fool you. When this young lady starts talking airplanes—and what it takes to fly 'em—brother, you'd listen, too . . . just like these students above.

SHE MAY CALL YOU by your first name now and then, but when she calls you up for that final "check flight," you'd better know your loops. It's strictly regulation with her.

YES, and with Instructor Peggy Lennox, it's strictly Camels, too — the flier's favorite. "Mildness is a rule with me," she explains. "That means Camels. There's less nicotine in the smoke."

Flying instructor PEGGY LENNOX says:

THIS IS THE CIGARETTE FOR ME. EXTRA MILD—AND THERE'S SOMETHING SO CHEERING ABOUT CAMEL'S GRAND FLAVOR

● "EXTRA MILD," says Instructor Peggy Lennox. "Less nicotine in the smoke," adds the student, as they talk it over—over Camels in the pilot room at right.

Yes, there is less nicotine in the smoke of slower-burning Camels . . . extra mildness . . . but that alone doesn't tell you why, with smokers in the service . . . in private life, as well . . . Camels are preferred.

No, there's something else . . . something more. Call it flavor, call it pleasure, or what you will, you'll find it only in Camels. You'll like it!

The smoke of slower-burning Camels contains than the average of the 4 other largest-selling cigarettes tested—less than any of them—according to independent scientific tests of the smoke itself!

28% LESS NICOTINE

NEW JUNIOR ARMY COURSE STARTED

Here is the first of a series of lessons on Physical Fitness prepared especially for Junior Victory Army members by Joe McKenney, Associate Director of Physical Education, Boston Public Schools. All recruits should study these lessons, then clip them out and paste them in scrapbooks. They will prove profitable not only for immediate use in the interests of national defense but in the future.

By JOE McKENNEY
Associate Director of Physical Education, Boston Public Schools

LESSON ONE

Correct and Incorrect Posture

In every national emergency the physical fitness of our citizens has become a matter of general consciousness and concern.

The aim of every physical educator is to provide each child with a strong body, since it is the foundation for a child's mental education.

It is of utmost importance therefore that the physical fitness of each child should be checked in the earlier grades by a complete medical examination, so that health handicaps of youth, e. g., bad eyes, teeth, heart, etc., may be corrected.

The aim of the physical educator in the elementary grades is to build up and correct the faulty body mechanics of the children and by so doing raise their physical resistance against the harmful infectious diseases of childhood.

Statistics show that the child with a faulty posture has more infectious disease than those with no postural faults. Since in the earlier grades of school over 50 per cent of the pupils have postural defects it is of utmost importance that a corrective program of physical education be conducted in the elementary schools.

This corrective program should, however, augment and not replace the regular program of physical education.

FOUR GROUPS

Let us take for example any classroom of 40 pupils. Each pupil is examined and classified into one of four groups: A, B, C or D, according to posture.

Those who have normal or nearly normal postures are grouped into Class A or B. Those who need corrective work are grouped into Class C or D.

To be placed in Class A the child must have "excellent mechanical use of the body:"

1—Head straight above chest, hips and feet.
2—Chest up and forward.
3—Abdomen in or flat.
4—Back, usual curves not exaggerated.

For Class B the child must have "good mechanical use of the body": (Compare with "A").

1—Head too far forward.
2—Chest not so well up or forward.
3—Abdomen, very little change.
4—Back, very little change.

A child having "poor mechanical use of the body" is placed in Class C: (Compare with "A").

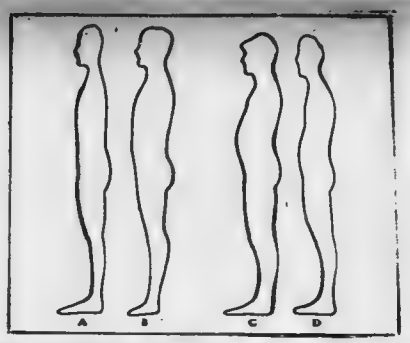
1—Head forward of chest.
2—Chest flat.
3—Abdomen relaxed and forward.
4—Back curves are exaggerated.

POSTURE NEXT

A child having "very poor mechanical use of the body" is placed in Class D: (Compare with A).

1—Head still farther back.
2—Chest still flatter and farther back.
3—Abdomen completely relaxed, "slouchy."
4—Back, all curves exaggerated to the extreme.

("How to Obtain Good Posture," will be discussed in Lesson Two of the Physical Fitness series to be published tomorrow in the Evening American.)



GOOD POSTURE—All Junior Victory Army members should learn good posture . . . and these sketches will help. A—Excellent mechanical use of body. B—Good mechanical use of body. C—Poor mechanical use of body. D—Very poor mechanical use of body.

Frederick L. Kateon of Providence, R. I., writes that he is enrolling all the members of his Home Room class at Esek Hopkins Junior High School there in the Junior Army. All plan to wear the insignia pins showing their affiliation, he reports.

Richard Sherman, Ottawa rd., Arlington, says he is starting a Victory club for members of the Junior Army in his neighborhood. He reports the members expect to engage in model plane building for the Navy and to practice first aid as demonstrated in the lessons appearing in the Record.

The Lucky Eight Club of the Little House, 73 A st., South Boston, has also enrolled in the Junior Army. The members are: Barbara Connolly, Anna Fiatolilo, Millicent Graham, Jeanne Flannery, Tina Mauriel, Theresa McDonough, Dorothy Tatro and Winifred Walsh.

Each is 14 and they are "making things for the Junior Red Cross and saving things for defense." Their letter closes with: "We are proud to join the Junior Victory Army."

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

on the rocky coast and in the oil spilled from the broken ships.

Efforts to put lines ashore from the stricken vessels failed. A breeches buoy finally was rigged to a ledge at sea level, but some survivors were washed ashore before they could be hauled to the top of the cliff that lined the rocky coast.

The Truxtun, the Navy said, broke up almost immediately after grounding and soon afterward the Pollux also went to pieces under the pounding of the violent seas.

Such as did survive owe their rescue in large measure, the Navy declared, to the "tireless, efficient and in many cases heroic action of the people of St. Lawrence, Newfoundland."

The Navy communique announcing the loss of two warships follows:

"ATLANTIC AREA—The U. S. S. Truxtun, a World War destroyer, and the U. S. S. Pollux, a cargo ship, ran aground in foul weather off the coast of Newfoundland and were lost.

"Due to the extremely difficult surf caused by the gale raging in the Atlantic and the bitterness of winter weather, loss of life was heavy on both vessels.

"Heroic efforts to swim lines ashore failed due to the inability to handle them when they became oil soaked.

"A breeches buoy was finally rigged to a ledge at sea level, but some of the survivors were washed away before they could be gotten to the top of the cliff that lined the rocky shore.

"The Truxtun broke up almost immediately after grounding, and soon thereafter the Pollux did likewise.

"The survivors owe their rescue in large measure to the tireless, efficient and in many cases heroic action of the people of St. Lawrence.

"The next of kin of those lost in this tragic drama of the sea have been notified.

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

The 6085-ton Pollux, a converted merchantman, was completed in 1940 at Kearny, N. J., at a cost of $2,100,000. She was then named the Comet and was owned by the Maritime Commission.

Her normal complement as a naval stores ship called for 18 officers and 160 men. She had a speed of 15 knots and was converted into a naval auxiliary at the cost of $1,500,000.

She was placed under the command of Commander Hugh W. Turney when she was commissioned at Brooklyn Navy Yard last May 6.

The 1190-ton Truxton was a flush-decked four stacker completed in 1921 and capable of 35 knots. Her complement called for 122 men.

In May, 1940, the Truxton was in the American squadron operating out of Lisbon. After this detail she saw service in the squadron training naval reservists on Caribbean cruises.

LONDON HAILS F. D., BERLIN DISPUTES HIM

LONDON, Feb. 24 (AP) London morning newspapers gave President Roosevelt's speech prominent places in their columns today.

Lord Beaverbrook's Express said the President gave a 'cold-blooded account of how he means to use the resources of America to beat the Axis in a long-term war."

The Sketch declared the President "gave the world a tremendous message of confidence and cheer . . . While America can produce such soldiers as Gen. MacArthur and can brush aside superhuman difficulties . . . with such great confidence in her will to victory she can never be defeated by the Nazi force."

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts) Feb. 24 (AP) — President Roosevelt was right twice and wrong once in his Washington speech last night, a German radio commentator said today.

He was right when he said Germany, Italy and Japan has staked "their last ounce of energy" to cut Anglo-American supply lines all over the globe, the Berlin commentator declared. He was right when he said Axis production was at its peak, the commentator continued, adding that it already surpasses total Anglo-American production.

But—said the commentator—he was wrong in assuming Axis production would not increase.

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts), Feb. 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt's radio speech last night must have proved a "fireside disappointment" both to Americans at home and their allies abroad, Domei said today, likening the address to "a pep talk by an irate football coach."

The speech was couched throughout in generalities and even the President's most sympathetic friends could not ignore that he frankly admitted the stupendous war task confronting the United States, the news agency declared.

"A noteworthy commentary on Roosevelt's address was furnished by the report that a Japanese warship was shelling the American mainland at about the same time he was speaking from the White House," Domei said.

The agency declared that by promising that American forces soon would be able to assume the offensive, President Roosevelt obviously was trying to "appease the American public which has been increasingly critical of the Administration's efforts."

U. S. DENIES NAZI SUBS NOW USE MARTINIQUE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Official sources have discounted reports from London that an enlarged German U-boat fleet was using the French island of Martinique as one of its bases in the Western Atlantic.

The estimates were that the Germans have about 230 ocean-going submarines in service, which would be about 30 more than were in use last spring.

The source added that the small margin of increase was a tribute to efficiency of United States and British anti-submarine forces.

An authoritative British source said it was regarded as "not improbable" that the Germans were using Martinique and possibly Guadaloupe.

Washington quarters reported that there was no evidence of any use of Martinique by Axis subs, and that Washington would know immediately should U-boats attempt to employ facilities on the island since a naval observer, Commander Ernest J. Blankenship, is on duty there.

Sumner Welles, acting Secretary of State, said the United States was watching closely all developments bearing on the French fleet, including the recent arrival of the repaired battleship Dunkerque at Toulon.

Nazis Claim 8 More Ships Sunk Off U. S.

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), Feb. 24 (AP)—A special German high command communique said today German submarines operating in the Atlantic and off the American coast had sunk eight more ships totaling 63,000 tons.

The text of the announcement:

"German U-boats sank from convoys in the Atlantic and off the American coast a further eight ships totaling 63,000 tons.

"Five of the ships were tankers."

Official U. S. Communique

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (INS)—Following is the text of the War Department's 122d communique:

"WEST COAST — An enemy submarine apparently Japanese, fired 25 rounds of 5-inch shells at the Bankline oil refinery, near Ellwood, Cal., last night at about 7:20 p. m., Pacific War Time.

"Slight damage was done and no casualties were reported. The submarine appeared on the surface of the ocean about one-fourth mile off Ellwood, which is about 25 miles west of Santa Barbara.

"Firing was from two five-inch guns. Army and Navy aircraft and surface vessels have instituted a search for the submarine.

"PHILIPPINE THEATER—There was no activity of ground troops on either side during the past 24 hours.

"Enemy aircraft dropped a considerable number of incendiary bombs behind our lines.

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

U. S. Cutter Sunk by Sub

U. S. OFFICIAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—The first reported sinking of a United States warship in the Atlantic since this country entered the war Dec. 7 was disclosed today with announcement by the Navy Department that the Coast Guard cutter Alexander Hamilton had been lost through enemy submarine action.

The 2141-ton patrol vessel, one of seven known as "the pride of the Coast Guard," was torpedoed and crippled in the waters off Iceland. Efforts were made to tow her into port, but en route she capsized and had to be sunk by gunfire.

There were no deaths reported as a result of the capsizing of the ship, but there was a "moderate" loss of personnel when the torpedo struck and exploded, the Navy said. The full wartime complement of the cutter was 202 officers and men.

Aussies Bomb Jap-Held Isle

CANBERRA, Australia, Feb. 24 (AP)—Overcoming Japanese fighter planes which attempted to head them off, Australian airmen carried out another attack yesterday on Rabaul, New Britain Island, bombing airdromes and shipping in the harbor, the RAAF announced today.

The Australians lost one plane in the raid, but shot down one Japanese fighter and probably destroyed two others, a communique said.

The Japanese occupied Rabaul, which is situated in the Bismarck Archipelago about 800 miles northeast of the tip of Australia, on Jan. 24.

BUY BONDS and STAMPS will be Mrs. Katherine Kelley of Cambridge, senior vice-president; Mrs. Mary A. Gormerly of Dorchester, junior vice-president, and Mrs. Teresa Stacy of Boston, secretary-treasurer.

"We are all digging in to help KEEP 'EM FLYING," declared Mrs. Goss and added that the auxiliary already has purchased $20,000 in BONDS and STAMPS.

The auxiliary's pledge of $50,000 in BONDS TO BUY MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS comes closely behind the promise of their brother organization . . . Massachusetts Department, Veterans of Foreign Wars . . . which recently began a drive to purchase $100,000 worth of BONDS and STAMPS.

Day by day reports pour into the BUY A BOMBER editor of new organizations joining the ever-growing legion pledging BOND purchases.

"RICH MAN, POOR MAN . . ."

Veterans, school children, laborers, electricians, railroad engineers, policemen, firemen, municipal employes . . . the list swells with each report and a complete listing would give a graphic cross-section of AMERICA, the land they all love.

Rich man, poor man, banker, bookkeeper . . . they are all BUYING BONDS FOR BOMBERS.

Every BOND, every STAMP, no matter how large, means another BOMBER can be built. The more BONDS, the more BOMBERS.

Join this MARCH TO VICTORY. The method is easy and simple.

Just BUY BONDS or STAMPS and report your purchase (in writing, please) to the BUY A BOMBER editor, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston.

Get your organization, if you belong to one, to join too. It's the most exclusive society in the world . . . AMERICANS JOINED TOGETHER FOR VICTORY.

EVERY BOMBER BRINGS VICTORY CLOSER. But we must BUY BONDS, MORE BONDS so BOMBERS will fill the skies over Tokyo, Berlin, and every other spot on earth INFESTED with Axis enemies.

EVEN PENNIES COUNT

Pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters, dollars . . . "mobilize" them into one heap and BUY BONDS.

IT'S THE GREATEST INVESTMENT IN THE WORLD . . . an investment in VICTORY for AMERICA.

MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS will be bought with proceeds from BOND and STAMP sales. In this manner, MASSACHUSETTS, the State which has responded so nobly and generously in the nation's hour of need, will win recognition for its unselfish contribution to AMERICA'S VICTORY MARCH.

Feel a glow of PRIDE as you see the imposing bulk of a BOMBER pass overhead. BUY BONDS and STAMPS and know that the BOMBER you see was made possible by your purchase.

Ends Life With Gun As War Call Nears

METHUEN, Feb. 24—Dr. John J. Deacey, Essex County medical examiner, issued a verdict of suicide today in the death of William Mullaney, 36, an employe of the Methuen Wood Heel Co., who was found lying across his bed with a bullet wound in his forehead.

At his side was a .22-caliber rifle. Police said he was scheduled to enter military service the first of next month.

Miriam, 3, Buys Her Bond Like Cousin, 15

Another little three-year-old mite toddled into the office of the Record-American to add her bit to the ever-swelling Defense Bond fund now being raised.

Miriam Mendelsohn of Charlotte st., Dorchester, was quite impressed last week when her cousin Melvin Goldstein, 15, of Estrella st., Mattapan, Record-American newsboy, proudly displayed his $25 "BOMBER BOND."

Miriam knew her cousin had purchased the bond to help Uncle Sam defeat our enemies and she told her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Mendelson:

"I want a bomber bond like cousin Mellie's."

So today Melvin brought his little cousin into town and showed her how to buy a $50 "BOMBER BOND" to help Uncle Sam win this fight.

Friends and relatives of Frederick A. Genetti, seaman second class, U. S. Navy, of Hartwell rd., Bedford, were saddened today by word that he was lost at sea last Wednesday "while in the performance of his duties."

Flying Fishes Don't Play Any More on Great White Way

CHICAGO, Feb. 24 (AP)—The Wrigley gum sign in Times sq., on Broadway, New York, will be dismantled today to conserve electric power, Philip K. Wrigley, president of the William Wrigley, Jr., Co., announced.

The sign, one of the largest electric signs in the world, has 25,000 lamps and 1064 feet of neon tubing. Wrigley said the sign, erected six years ago, consumes enough electricity to illuminate a city of 10,000.

The 140-ton board is a block long and 10 stories high, with tropical fish the size of box cars flying across it.

Lend-Lease Soars Since Jap Attack

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—The rate of lend-lease aid to the other United Nations has tripled since Pearl Harbor, an official report disclosed today.

Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., the lend-lease administrator, said in testimony made public by the Senate appropriations committee that during the first 8½ months of the program such aid averaged about $141,000,000 monthly, compared with $338,000,000 in December and $462,000,000 in January.

He also disclosed that the air ferrying service across the Atlantic to the Middle East, created last summer and operated with lend-lease funds, had been extended "so that the bombers for our fighting forces, as well as those of our allies, can be flown by that route to the fighting areas of the Southern Pacific."

FREE FRENCH AID

Lend-lease aid to the Free French and the Free Belgians contributes to protection of the route across Africa, he said.

From March to the end of November, lend-lease aid totalled $1,202,000,000, and by the end of January had reached more than $2,000,000,000 and was still climbing.

"This increase must and will continue," Stettinius said, asking that $5,330,000,000 in direct lend-lease funds voted by the House, plus an additional $95,000,000 be incorporated in the pending $32,762,737,900 supplemental defense appropriation.

PACIFIC FRONT LINE

"Australia, New Zealand, the Dutch East Indies, China, India and Burma are America's front line in the Pacific, sustained in part by lend-lease aid," Stettinius said.

"In the next ten months the lend-lease administration hopes to provide tremendous impetus to the production abroad of military weapons and to the general preparedness of these allies.

"Trucks, road-building machinery, locomotives, tracks, ties and so forth, will put their transportation facilities in fighting shape. Radios, receiving sets and sending stations, telephones, and electrical equipment, will bolster their communications system for the war effort."

City Buildings Slash on Heat

An order asking an immediate reduction in the consumption of fuel in all municipal buildings brought home the war anew today to city employes.

Wallace Kee, city purchaser of fuel, issued the order, effective at once in all city institutions, excluding hospitals.

"All city departments are asked to co-operate, and the government expects that they will do so," he said.

The order applies to fire stations, schools, police stations, part department buildings, and all other city-owned structures.

At City Hall and City Hall Annex, employes found many rooms chilly as engineers cut down the heat. There, employes also were asked to extinguish any unnecessary lights.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

NOW-A-DAYS it isn't enough to put on the dog . . . The latest wrinkle in dog show obedience contests is to put two dogs on exhibition, performing as a team . . .

The obedience tests which were introduced a few years ago have become so popular with dog showgoers that exhibitors have thought up all sorts of clever little tricks for their educated pooches to perform, and have even trained dogs to go through their paces in pairs.

Mr. Louis Greenwood's team of setters was the first pair we ever saw in an obedience test when they ran through their various stunts at last year's show . . . This year there were four pairs, which means that three other owners have spent a year of extremely careful and patient training . . .

One of them is Mrs. William B. Long of Marlborough st., whose Welsh Corgi Meaghan (named after Lloyd George's daughter) is a veteran obedience contest performer . . . This year Meaghan has a partner—a jolly little Corgi who still finds appearing before thousands of people a more diverting experience than going through his paces . . .

Several times yesterday he let Meaghan go her merry way while he romped around the ring and whooped at the cash customers, trying to get someone to play with him . . .

MRS. LONG MUST be one of the busiest women in Boston, for she not only lends a helping hand to many worthy charities, keeps up her interest in music and the theater by attending most of the important events in these arts, looks after her family, which includes a sub-deb daughter, two sons in service and a married daughter, and can be seen almost every morning exercising her pups in the Public Garden . . . Exercising the pups is a far different story from training them, however . . . the latter takes hours of patient guidance and usually requires several evenings a week in class . . .

The two-day holiday provided a wonderful opportunity for dog fans to attend the show and pick out their favorites . . . Among the prominent exhibitors we glimpsed were Mrs. John G. Winant, wife of the American ambassador to Britain, who wore a mink coat over her simple black dress, and a tiny black calot made of laced strips of velvet.

Mrs. Robert Choate had a busy time exhibiting all her Sealyhams and made a very attractive appearance as she guided them around the show ring . . . On the opening day she wore a softly tailored gray suit with a black turban festooned with a cluster of white violets . . . Yesterday her simple black dress was topped by a black velvet turban with a fluffy bow in front.

GRAY WAS the choice of Mrs. Francis V. Crane for her stint in the show ring with her Great White Pyrenees . . . and when not exhibiting she watched the other events with her stepmother, Mrs. Frank G. Allen, who wore a striking plaid tweed coat and hat . . .

After attending the Ladies' Dog Club luncheon at the Hotel Lenox yesterday, Mrs. Albert Gould and her mother, Mrs. Charles E. Ware went on to the show where they had earlier chalked up some winnings with their fox terriers . . . Mrs. Gould accented her blonde hair with a suit of delphinium blue tweed . . .

Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall, dressed in black with a mink hat to match the trimming on her coat, sauntered around the ring, enjoying the fun and picking out her favorites . . . Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Shaw, Mrs. George Putnam, who was elected president of the Ladies' Dog Club at the Lenox luncheon; Miss Isabel Hoopes, Miss Frances Porter, secretary of the Ladies' Dog Club, and Mrs. Albert Geiger, retiring president, who wore a dark brown tailored suit, with matching accessories.

Airedale Club At Luncheon

Guests at the annual meeting and luncheon of the Airedale Terrier Club held yesterday at the Hotel Lenox included Mrs. Emery J. Trott of Andover whose husband was elected president for the coming year. Mrs. Trott wore a pearl gray wool ensemble with matching hat. Mrs. Theodore C. Hollander, wife of the club's new secretary-treasurer, chose a costume of deep rose wool with a gray quilled hat and gray accessories.

Also attending were Mrs. Guy Warren Walker of North Beverly who wore a light brown suit with dark brown accessories, Mrs. Emmett Warburton of Newton Center in fur trimmed pale gray tweed, George Saltonstall West of Chestnut Hill who was elected vice-president, and James R. Warren, retiring president, who was in charge of the luncheon.

The Masked Jury
SPINSTER'S PLIGHT
SUITOR'S LOVE SHIFTS

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY: Ten years ago I met a man and we have been keeping steady company ever since. We could not get married because he supported his mother and I helped to support mine.

Now the way is clear for us to get married but I have recently discovered he's running around with another woman. I don't know whether to tell this woman the circumstances or just let him go.

I love him very much and I am pretty sure he loves me. I am heartsick wondering what to do about it. I neither eat nor sleep any more and I have lost ten pounds worrying about the whole thing. I am asking you to please tell me what to do in my case.

Should I give up this man now?
—A Worried Spinster.

HOW THE JURY VOTED:
Women: Yes, one; No, five.
Men, Yes, two; No, four.

CANTEEN HOSTESS: No. Fight for your man if you love him. I would never let the first girl who came along put me out of the running without a struggle.

NIGHT CLUB SINGER: No. I'd lay the cards down on the table but I'd make myself a little harder to get from now on.

WAITRESS: Yes. When a fellow starts that running-around business it's best to forget him. Believe me, I know.

FASHION ARTIST: No. Any man is apt to stray a little if he isn't watched. The thing to do is to keep your hands on him.

SKI INSTRUCTRESS: No. After 10 years she has probably let Mr. Somebody take matters too much for granted. But I wouldn't give up without a fight.

TRAIN STEWARDESS: No. You've heard that story about a bird in the hand being worth two in a treetop.

SOLDIER: No, not if she wants to keep the guy. That's when a girl should get in there and pitch.

COPY READER: Yes. According to her that's an easy way to lose weight—10 pounds in a few weeks.

COUNTRY CLUB MANAGER: No. That's only round one. If she's had him for 10 years she can probably persuade him to hang on for life.

COST ACCOUNTANT: Yes. She should let him make up his own mind and not throw herself at him.

ADVERTISING SOLICITOR: No, but if she's a smart girl she'll start finding out how she stands before she does too much worrying.

HAT CLEANER: No. she should find out what the other lady's got that she hasn't got.

Fashions
Hats Tilted In Florida

Not only gentlemen tip their hats . . . At Hialeah Park, where Florida's Gold Coast resorters present a daily fashion show and forecast of 1942's summer styles, hats are worn coquettishly tilted over pompadour curls.

Mrs. Dodge Sloane, nationally famous owner of race horses, wears a tiny blue sailor of raffia straw trimmed with red and yellow flowers, smartly tipped over one eye. Mrs. Sloane is a sister of Mrs. Wes son of Seyburn of Manchester-by-the Sea, who has been visiting in Florida this winter.

Another modishly tilted hat is the feathered disc which Mrs. Charles S. Bromley of Philadelphia wears with a summery light blue dress. The hat has two love birds perched on top. Lavendar velvet pansies cover the straw tricorn which Mrs. William Brann of Frederick, Md., wears to complement her tailored pastel dresses.

High heeled white kid pumps with fringed bows on the toes and gold-studded platform soles were the choice of Mrs. Coe Kerr, Jr., when she attended the races with Mrs. Henry J. Topping, Jr., whom she is visiting in Palm Beach. Mrs. Topping was similarly shod in this popular fashion.

Butterfly bows demurely perched on short vamp pumps, plaid slippers and the ever popular brown and white spectator pumps are other highlights of the winter resort fashions.

Exclusive Pictures Of Convoys' Fight Against U-Boats Tell Vivid Story

1—Watch Begins—Laden with life-giving cargoes, ships of convoy leave a Canadian port . . . and patrol vessels take up their vigil, their tense watch against raiding U-boats begun. The protection of convoys through the danger zones of the North Atlantic is a cold and hazardous job . . . a job that is being well done by United States and Canadian naval men. See No. 2 . . . at right.

2—At Listening Post—As the convoy bucks along through the Atlantic waters, the keen men who sit at the listening posts of Canada's patrolling warships go "on the alert" . . . listening for the prowling Axis U-boats that haunt the lanes over which new life is being brought to the mother of an empire at war. Once a sub is detected by these delicate devices, word is flashed quickly to the ship's bridge . . . and . . . See No. 3 . . .

3—'All Hands to Battle Stations'—Commands fill the air as word reaches the control station of a patrol ship that an enemy U-boat is lurking in the vicinity . . . and all hands get set to wipe out the menace to the convoy. Here an officer, speckled with frozen spray of the Atlantic, shouts orders through his megaphone . . . Now, No. 4 . . .

OUR DAILY CITATION: To Ralph LaFabvre, of Seventh street, South Boston, for his heroism in the fire that swept a three-story apartment building Saturday. Risking his own life, LaFabvre climbed to the top of the flaming structure, rescued his wife and baby, and guided several other persons to safety.

THE SUBMARINE attack on the Pacific Coast was deliberately timed by the Axis to be an alarming distraction for the public attention focused on President Roosevelt's address.

Too, it was an effort to show neutral countries that the United States is open to continental attack even while its leader is speaking of fighting to victory in the far places of earth.

Those morning newspapers which gave more prominence to the story of the attack than to the President's speech probably played unwittingly into the Axis scheme.

California took it calmly enough viewing it as just another display of Axis exhibitionism. The fellow couldn't call his shots. If they're all like that one, let 'em come.

AMERICAN authorities have a major problem on their hands in dealing with aliens in defense areas, and with citizens suspected of subversive intentions.

This is largely and perhaps entirely due to the failure to take adequate measures to cover such situations at a time when their adoption would have caused little disturbance to the peaceful life of the nation and would have provided a war program of incalculable value when it was needed.

The registration and fingerprinting of aliens has been undertaken in very recent years, and then only after great protest and with doubtful results.

Since the war, it has been possible to deal comprehensively with "enemy" aliens, and Federal authorities seem to have done this effectively according to plans previously arranged by officials who anticipated the present situation.

However, the failure of the Government to adopt, and the reluctance of the people to demand, a program of UNIVERSAL fingerprinting and registration, applicable alike to citizen and noncitizen, has deprived the nation of a system of identification which would enormously simplify wartime procedure.

The Hearst newspapers have advocated universal fingerprinting and registration for many years, and for several reasons.

One important reason always given was that crime in peacetime would thus be reduced, criminals more easily apprehended and identified and public safety correspondingly increased.

The more vital reason always given was that in the event of war the nation would have complete records of citizens and aliens, available for instantaneous application of protective measures.

Illustrative of this position is the following excerpt from an editorial published in the Hearst papers more than five years ago:

"Suggestions for compulsory fingerprinting are too often limited to specific groups . . . This is a piecemeal approach to a much bigger problem . . . UNIVERSAL fingerprinting is the ultimate goal public opinion should visualize."

Now, of course, we must do hurriedly and as an essential war measure what could have been done calmly and as a constructive and beneficial peace measure.

Ironically, we are STILL trying to limit even wartime fingerprinting and registration to specific groups, and thus making a piecemeal approach to a bigger problem.

It may well be suggested that the real problem and the whole problem be dealt with, and UNIVERSAL fingerprinting and registration be required.

With that undertaken and accomplished, there will not only be complete identification records for protective purposes in war, but valuable and indispensable records for public safety after the war—with the gainful result that a necessary war measure would eventually become a wholesome and sound peace measure.

THE UNITED WAR FUND, which reached and passed its goal of $7,600,000 a few days ago, was a splendid achievement, and all Bostonians are understandably proud of their ability to raise so much money.

With great pleasure, we therefore publish this letter from Mr. Maynard Hutchinson, general chairman of the United War Fund organization:

To the Staff of the Boston American:

On behalf of all the 30,000 people who campaigned for the Greater Boston United War Fund, I want to express to you our deepest gratitude for the magnificent co-operation you gave us throughout the campaign.

Through this co-operation, the real story of the United War Fund was successfully told to more thousands of Greater Boston residents than ever before.

Our ability to convey this story to them, with your help, was a tremendously powerful factor in the final result of the campaign—more than $7,600,000 for the Greater Boston Community Fund, the American Red Cross, the United Service Organizations and the local Soldiers' and Sailors' Committee.

You have reason to be proud of what you did, and I know that all the rest of the campaign organization, and also those who will benefit from the sum raised, join me in extending to you our heartfelt thanks.

Sincerely yours,
MAYNARD HUTCHINSON,
General Chairman.

On The Side

Looking on the lines of my boy's face
Methoughts I did recoil
Twenty-three years and saw myself. —Shakespeare.

IT IS A coincident that Shakespeare named 23 years as period of a father's backward look because it is just about the time many a father who has a soldier son today was himself a soldier. Then think of the many mothers, who in 1918 saw their husbands off to war, now must see their sons off to war. Parents bear up well saying good-bye to soldier sons, but it is a tough experience. Who remembers a poem, "The Kid Stepped Out for the Flag Today." . . . Between 8 and 8:30 is time fixed for the nightly war talk session at our house. What is to be said about the war must be said at that time. Had a terrific session last night. Boy, what squawks! I had three squawks that I had to pace the floor to put over—and one that called for a slam on the table. My girl friend had two floor pacers and one squawk, which she ended by holding her arms out wide and dramatically saying: "Now I ask you, is that terrible or isn't it?" After the discussion we wrote a letter to our Congressman and closed the session by giving nine cheers for Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

MODELS: The well-known Manhattan Powers model, Betty McLaughlen, in discussing men and models, said in part: "The moment a girl is introduced to a fellow as a model his eyebrows go up and he suspects the worst. Models are the same as any other group of girls and most of them go home to Momma at the end of a day's work." Gentlemen, please keep what Miss McLaughlen says in mind. Do not raise your eyebrows when introduced to a model. Do not give voice to any facetious cracks. Just say: "So happy to know you. How's Momma?"

ASIDES: When a wife "mothers" a husband too much, babies him, caters to his so-called "little boy complex," it often happens said husband begins to think of his wife as he would his mother. And then he develops a wandering glance as far as other females are concerned. Such is the claim of many experts on matrimony . . . The Nazis claim that just before the war broke out one group in France had a plot to kill Hitler. No doubt. That was the trouble in France; it was divided into groups . . . The way to pronounce Sonja Henie is "Sownye Haynee." Many persons don't know how.

ALIMONY: Note with interest a divorce settlement calling for one-sixth of the divorced husband's salary as alimony. Made this way to provide for decrease in the man's earning power. It is not always done that way but should be. No doubt many of our feminine friends will question the "one sixth" angle as unfair. But shouldn't alimony be based on length of marriage? That is, for short marriages the wife's allowance should be much smaller than for long marriages. And it must also be considered there is no income tax on alimony.

PASSING BY: Robert W. Service. Wrote "The Shooting of Dan McGrew." He was living in France, but left when the Nazis arrived. Though people are continually claiming they were present at the shooting of McGrew, Mr. Service says the incident is an invention of his—that it never really happened.

HUSBANDS: "Have you any quotations on husbands I could use in a talk on that subject I am scheduled to give at my club?" asks a Chicagoan. How about Arnold Bennett's: "Being a husband is a whole-time job. That is why so many husbands fail. They cannot give their entire attention to it." Or the New Testament's "Husbands love your wives and be not bitter against them." Or Halifax' "A wife is to thank God her husband has faults—a husband without faults is a dangerous observer." Or Artemus Ward's "The married man dies in good style at home surrounded by his loving wife and children, but the bachelor does not die at all. He just rots away like a pollywog's tail."

PLEASE NOTE: Only dog owners will believe this, and even some of them may doubt it. But it is true. Before Pearl Harbor our dog never barked from the car except at motorcycles and other dogs. Now, when he sees a Japanese passing, he flies into a rage —barks, snarls, shows his teeth. How do I explain it? Well, it could be a kind of mental telepathy between the pup and myself. I mean, when I see a Japanese it arouses a feeling of resentment in me and the pup probably senses this.

ADDED DETAILS: How about some anti-tire thief organizations along the lines of the former anti-horse thief outfits. A tire thief at this time is an A-1 ghoul and should be treated as such. A little dose of tar and feathers might be appropriate . . . Writes a lengthy lady of Louisville: "Tall women are the forgotten women today. I mean women who are 5 feet 10 inches tall and taller. Practically no provision is made for them in most places. They get very little advice from the style authorities. There should be departments for tall women in all stores. There should be 'tips for tall women' columns."

Betty Grable

Broadway's Voice

STUDIO GROUNDS BETTY GRABLE

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Feb. 24—I've just heard what I think will probably be the "Over There" of this war. It's a spirited song with a really pretty, stimulating tune, and it's called "This Time." The words are, necessarily, pretty corny, as they are in most patriotic songs, but I find myself humming the melody after just one hearing. Irving Berlin is the composer, of course. You don't think anyone else is going to write the "Over There" of World War II, do you? . . . Now is the time, in my opinion, for night clubs and hotel rooms to discontinue the policy of "no dancing except for those in formal attire." That was all right before Dec. 7, but now that we are all dashing about doing something useful, now that everyone seems to be either just off a train from Washington or just about to get on one, there isn't always the time to change into black tie or a satin gown when you snatch a couple of hours of relaxation . . . Betty Grable is train-riding these days. Her studio has forbidden her to fly.

SOME OF THOSE radio commercials in which the announcer yells furiously about what to buy for a headache are very effective. They give me a headache straight off . . . Not long ago I wrote something about men's "vests" and promptly received a scolding letter from a gentleman who sounded like a tailor. He told me that "vest" was a vulgar word, used only by pants pressers and street corner loungers in the garment district—that the proper noun was "waistcoat." Well, I am a girl who has been familiar with the waistcoat for years, but I am also a great believer in common usage, and it seemed to me that "vest" was common usage, so I set out to check. Mindful of my correspondent's top-lofty slurs at ready-made suits, I carefully selected from among my acquaintances only gentlemen whose garments are hand-tailored and in the $150-$225 group. I confronted them one by one and without warning asked: "What is that thing you are wearing under your jacket?" To a man, they gave me puzzled looks and replied: "That's a vest, dearie, as you very well know." So I think I will continue to use the vulgarity.

GINGER ROGERS, typical white collar girl of the films, is looking anything but "white collar" in the niteries. Wearing a Spanish mantilla and two red roses in her hair, no less . . . I notice the jitterbugs and autograph hounds who haunt the Paramount stage door have begun to use the side of the building on which to scribble memos, messages and assorted sentiments. The other day there was a large inscription reading "I'm just wild about Harry James," signed by a list of names from shoulder high to sidewalk level. Nearby, one contained this plaintive notice: "Dear Rita—I was here—and you weren't—now you're here—and I'm not—irving" . . . I haven't ridden in one taxicab this week whose driver hasn't informed me of his status in the draft. Sure, I listen. I am interested in my fellow-human beings.

I'VE OFTEN HEARD the expression "cried into their beer," but I've never seen it happen any place but Bill's Gay Nineties, where the old songs occasionally not only pull the heartstrings but tug at the lachrymose glands . . . Seems everyone you see nowadays wears some sort of a patriotic emblem. Mrs. Edward G. Robinson has so many insignia (her various Hollywood defense organizations) that you can't see her lapels . . . An awful lot of rubber gags are bouncing around town, but I do like Eddie Duchin's story of the two tires who lived to a ripe old age, and their favorite song was "Silver Treads Among the Gold."

I CAN'T WAIT to see Aunty Bea Lillie back in town, and can't wait to witness her teamed with the talented Billy De Wolfe. I understand Bea is making the same arrangements Jessie Matthews had to make with the British government. Britain will get most of her large pay check when she opens in Cole Porter's "Pot Pourri" . . . Sometimes I worry about the complacency in Americans who don't seem to be as excited and anxious about the war as they ought to be for their own good. But perhaps I'm wrong. Perhaps they're doing everything they should with the noiselessness of well-oiled efficiency. Perhaps the sound of sleeves rolling up and loins being girded is a very quiet sound.

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

THE GORGEOUS GIRL-BRIDE OF GEORGIE JESSEL—who is now a mother—will make a triumphant return to a Boston nightclub, the Rio Casino, on the night of March 24 . . . It will be a "triumphant" return because this year, on the very date of her announced premiere, Lois will have become 18 years old, and the Boston licensing bureau will not again be able to forbid her appearance . . . A squabble over Lois' age projected a bitter feud in Boston nightclub circles last year . . . The Rio Casino's management charged that rivals had called the licensing bureau's attention to the rumor that Lois was only 16 . . . At the same time, Miss Andrews' husband, Mr. Jessel, was playing at the Mayfair, and the management of this rendezvous felt that the Rio Casino's sudden engagement of Lois, at a fraction of the wages being paid her husband, was somewhat unethical.

THE FEUD HAS COOLED OFF to the simmering stage, but the upshot of the incident was that Mrs. Jessel was ordered to desist from appearing at the Rio Casino . . . The licensing bureau never did establish the beautiful California girl's exact age, and statistics from various sources, including the Andrews-Jessel wedding license application, placed it at 16 going on 17 . . . This year, Lois is bringing her birth-certificate with her, we are told . . . An eventful first year of marriage in the Jessel menage has not aged Lois sufficiently to make her eligible to work after 10 p. m. in a Boston nightclub . . . Marriage and motherhood regardless, and Lois' new age of 18 notwithstanding, Mrs. Jessel is still not old enough to chant her ditties after the 10 o'clock curfew.

IN BOSTON, A WORKING GIRL must be 21 years old to entertain in a place where liquor is served . . . This column certainly is not quibbling about the rule in its general application, but in the case of the much-traveled, worldly-wise mother of George Jessel's heiress, it does seem slightly carping . . . However . . . The Rio Casino undoubtedly will arrange its schedule so that no brush with the law impends . . . Lois will make her supper-show appearance, therefore, before 10 p. m. . . . The Rio has decided to make a three-handed game of the booking contest which has had The Latin Quarter and The Mayfair as the only players. news of future bookings indicates . . . Fritzi Scheff, the ageless queen of "Madame Sherry" ("Every Little Movement Has a Meaning All Its Own"), is to take the featured spot Monday next.

BENNY DROHAN, WHO IS getting more facile and more funny by the night, Helen Carroll, one of Boston's favorite native prima donnas, Adrienne Parker, and Lola and Harold (who danced at the Cocoanut Grove last week) make up an excellent cast of principals this week . . . And Buster Keim, the talented revue-stager, has directed some really deft dance-routines for the chorus.

LOIS ANDREWS JESSEL, DAUGHTER JERILYNN

Singer Plans "Triumphant" Return to Rio Casino

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Leila Ernst of the North Shore, who quit musical comedy for matrimony, has listed her name with the casting offices again . . . A wealthy Bostonian is wooing Gypsy Markoff, and another widely-known and very wealthy Bostonian has been most attentive to Leta Raynor in Miami . . . The Boston girls who won rides home in Army jeeps after the Copley-Plaza party sponsored by Police Commissioner Timilty won't complain if their swains this summer court them in jalopies with un-rubbered rims . . . But the jeeps were fun . . . To assuage the disappointment some newspaper critics might have felt at the Boston cancellation of "A Kiss for Cinderella," Cheryl Crawford, Jack Wildberg and Dick Krakeur, the producers, have invited them to the New York opening at the Music Box next Monday . . . A "faithful reader" wants Austen Lake to run for Congress . . . Incidentally, a prominent scribe is being urged by friends to try for the governorship . . . Peter "Finney Boyle" Schwartz' sudden death in Florida was a blow to dozens of friends who saw him off, in the best of health, just a week ago.

POLA NEGRI SPURNS MATURE ROLES

By Louella O. Parsons

Pola Negri

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 24—Pola Negri, slimmed down to 115 pounds and looking as young as she did 15 years ago, is not going to test for Pilar. "I don't want to play a middle-aged woman," she said, "even in 'For Whom the Bell Tolls.' If I could be young in the beginning and grow old as Claudette Colbert did in 'Remember the Day,' that would be a different thing, but I don't want to stamp myself as a character woman in my American comeback movie" . . . I had luncheon with Pola, and she laughed when I asked her if she had been one of Hitler's girl friends, as rumor said. "I have been in my estate at Cap Ferrat, milking cows, working in the garden and feeding chickens. My mother is there now with my aunt and uncle. Thank goodness, I was able to get them out of Poland. The stories that I was Hitler's girl friend are ridiculous. I made a picture in Germany called 'Marzurka' before the war. I needed the job, and when Arnold Pressburger offered it to me I took it. I left immediately and went to France."

CLAUDETTE COLBERT

Pola's estate is next to that of Maurice Chevalier, and she said he is still playing on the stage in Paris with his new wife. "Cap Ferrat," said Pola, "is in unoccupied France, and I haven't been in Paris since the Germans marched in. I don't want to talk politics. I want a job in America."

THE ARTHUR HORNBLOW niche at Paramount will be filled by David Lewis, no less. Yes, indeed, David, who was associate producer on such pictures as "Strange Victory," "All This and Heaven, Too" and "Kings Row," and who has a really fine story mind, moves into Paramount within the next month. David's Paramount deal is an important move, since he'll produce his own pictures now, whereas at Warners he was merely an associate producer.

THE VERY ATTRACTIVE wife of Bill Dickey, Yankee catcher, who came here for "Pride of the Yankees" with her husband, gets herself a part in the picture. I said at the time that Bill Dickey, who was Lou Gehrig's close friend and who is with the Yankees, came here that Sam Wood thought his wife was pretty enough to be in pictures. Well, Sam Goldwyn has signed her. She was formerly Violet Arnold and was with George White's Scandals. You will see her only in the one picture, for when her husband goes back to St. Petersburg, Fla., to train with the Yankees she will travel along.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: June Havoc files her suit for divorce from Don Gibbs in a local court—and soon; Chiquita, the hot tamale at the Florentine Gardens, is attracting the male contingent, many of whom sit in ringside seats night after night; Mrs. Robert Young's George Washington Birthday dinner was a great success, and the birthday cakes for Bob and Mecca Graham had all the trimmings—cherry trees, etc.; Mrs. Harold Lloyd is another who has the same natal day as the father of our country; Bob Taylor was on the Warner lot visiting an actress—and her name is—three guesses? You are right—Barbara Stanwyck!

Love and Marriage

In-Laws Wreck Her Home

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

MY HUSBAND and I have been separated for several months after going together for three years and being married for a year and a half. We have a baby.

The cause of our separation was my mother-in-law, who lived next door and always got into our business affairs. Some time ago my husband started drinking and staying out late. Of course I'd get after him for doing that and leaving me alone at home. It seems every time we fussed, one of his relations interfered, and gradually he turned against me.

I still love him and and I am more than sure he still cares for me, but his people do not let him alone. My baby needs a father as well as a mother. He comes to see the baby very often and gives me money to buy his needs, but we do not talk to each other and that breaks my heart. I stay at home with my parents. Every time he comes I cry myself to sleep.

UNHAPPY.

Frequently correspondents have accused me of being a special pleader for mothers-in-law. But your case seems to be the exception. Inasmuch as you love your husband, and I'm sure he loves you, it's the worst kind of folly to allow meddlesome in-laws to have brought about this separation. The next time your husband comes to see the baby, talk things out with him. Tell him you're willing to give your marriage a second trial, but you want to live as far away from your in-laws as possible.

If he meets you half way, I think it more than likely you will be able to make a go of your marriage. If this does happen, don't criticise his family.

Author, Nazi Foe, Wife Kill Selves

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, TUESDAY, FEB. 24, 1942

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 24—Friends today mourned Austrian-born and Nazi-exiled Stephen Zweig, famed author, who yesterday took his own life in a suicide pact with his wife at their summer home in Petropolis, near Rio De Janeiro.

The couple committed suicide by taking poison.

One of the principal targets of the Nazi book-burnings of 1938, and for eight years an exile from his homeland, Zweig committed suicide, with his wife, on the very day that an American edition of his latest book was published. He was 60 years old.

(Ironically tragic was the fact that Zweig's American publisher, Viking Press, brought out his newest work on Monday, entitled "Amerigo: A Comedy of Errors in History.")

In a letter explaining why he and Mrs. Zweig killed themselves the author asserted his energy was "exhausted by long years of peregrinations as one without a country."

"After I saw the country of my own language fall," said the author in his farewell note, "and my spiritual land—Europe—destroying itself, and as I reach the age of 60, it would require immense strength to reconstruct my life, and my energy is exhausted by long years of peregrinations as one without a country.

"Therefore, I believe it is time to end a life which was dedicated only to spiritual work, considering human liberty and my own as the greatest wealth in the world."

Ranked with such towering figures as Thomas Mann and Emil Ludwig among the titans of modern German literature, Zweig was a prolific writer of plays, novels, biographies and poems with a psychological character. His works were translated into 30 languages.

Jap Paratroops Take No Chances, Carry Extra Chute

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts), Feb. 24 (AP)—Japanese accounts of the landing of parachutists near Palembang at the start of the offensive against Sumatra said each trooper was equipped with a spare 'chute in case the first failed.

The parachutists were said to have been equipped with pistol and dagger. Machine guns, light mortars and other arms were dropped to them after they landed, reports of the operations said.

Beauty

EVEN ON THE SCREEN, the lovely, transparent quality of Loretta Young's skin draws sighs of envy from the girls in the audience, and signs of yearning from the boys . . . for despite a long career under Klieg lights, she has no lines of tiredness. Today Carol Ames tells of a wonder-working rose cream mask.

ROSE CREAM MASK SURE TO REFRESHEN YOUR SKIN

By ARLINE GOULD

WHETHER YOU ARE a career girl of thirty, or a glamour girl of twenty, or a busy wife and mother turned forty, you have at one time or another felt the desperate need for an Aladdin's lamp, with genii that could bring you instant beauty.

Would you believe it if I told you that there actually is such an Aladdin's lamp, which in 20 minutes by the clock will restore that rose-petal look you thought had gone forever?

There have been all kinds of masks, and high controversy has been waged about their merits. This one, mark my words, will get a unanimous Oscar. It is a lovely rose cream mask.

Even if you have only an hour in which to transform yourself from sagging wreck to a glowing, beautiful creature, you can get it in this mask treatment, and you will find those fine lines softened, clear color shining through your freshened skin, and your whole face given a rested, cherished look.

Run a warm, perfumed bath while you tear off those working clothes. Put on a cap or towel to protect your wave. Lather cleansing cream well into face and neck, and relax in your tub. If you must do it with a shower, make it warm and cleansing, followed by cold, with a cologne rub-down.

Then, perfumed and wrapped in something comfortable, spread on this cream mask and lie down (those eye-pads on your lids are grand, too) for 15 or 20 minutes, preferably with your head lower than your feet, and in a darkened room. Let the mask work while you drift into a half-doze.

When you get up, and remove the mask, you will not only look, but feel, like a different person. Now your makeup goes on smoothly . . . a touch of mascara, of eyeshadow; your most glamorous lipstick, your dusting of powder over your pet foundation . . . you're out for conquest!

The big news is that this mask, which sells for $2, will be available just for the month of March at a special get-acquainted price of one dollar!

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

FOOD

By Martha Lee

ADULTS ARE TOO PRONE to think they have graduated from milk drinking when they are graduated from school, which is an erroneous idea that leads to deficiencies in the diet. Milk drinking is a necessary investment for adults if for no other reason than to secure the proper calcium intake for healthy bones, teeth and blood.

When the diet does not contain enough calcium and phosphorous, these minerals are drained from the bones leaving them thin and brittle. Contrary to popular belief, brittle bones are not caused by old age alone; brittle bones are starved bones.

MILK IN PUDDINGS

Cold winter days sometimes make milk drinking a duty instead of a pleasure—but the milk requirement need not all be served as a beverage, for it may be incorporated in the preparation of any number of dishes. Puddings, for examples, offer an interesting way to utilize milk.

RICE STEAMED IN MILK

1 cup rice
2 cups milk
1 tsp. salt

Wash rice and drain; mix with milk and salt, and cook in a double boiler until rice has absorbed all the milk—about 30 minutes. Remove cover to let out steam; keep hot until ready to serve with shaved maple syrup and plain or whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

SPONGE PUDDING

½ cup butter
½ cup flour
2 cups milk
½ cup sugar
5 eggs, separated
1 tsp. vanilla

Melt butter and blend in flour. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly and cook over low heat 5 minutes or until thick and smooth. Add sugar and stir until dissolved. Cool and stir in well beaten yolks. Add vanilla and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into baking dish, place in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 1 hour or until firm. Makes 6 servings.

Cook milk puddings slowly. If they are made of bread, the liquid is then absorbed more evenly. If made of cornstarch, the starch is more easily assimilated. If made with egg, the result is a more solid and more even texture. And flavor ripens and develops with the slower cooking.

OLD FASHIONED BREAD PUDDING

1½ cups diced day-old bread
3 cups milk, scalded
2 eggs, beaten
⅓ cup sugar
¼ tsp. salt
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ cup raisins, nut or cocoanut

Soak bread in milk in greased baking dish. Combine eggs, sugar, salt and cinnamon; stir into bread mixture; add raisins and set in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 45 minutes, or until knife comes out clean when inserted in center. Serve with hot jelly sauce, or any hard sauce or cream as desired. Makes 6 servings.

PEANUT PUDDING

¼ cup cornstarch
⅛ tsp. salt
1 tbsp. sugar
½ cup cold water
3 tbsp. honey
¼ cup peanut butter
3 cups scalded milk

Mix cornstarch, salt, sugar and cold water. Mix honey and peanut butter; add scalded milk slowly, mixing well. Stir in cornstarch mixture and cook over hot water 10 minutes, stirring constantly until thick and clear; then cover and cook 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool, turn into serving dishes and chill. Makes 6 servings.

OYSTER FRICASSEE

While "R" months hold out, Oyster Fricassee will hit the spot for delicious food. Drain fresh oysters and spread in the bottom of a greased casserole. Make a medium white sauce from 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons each of flour and shortening, and 1 teaspoon each of finely chopped onion and parsley. Pour over oysters and top off with 2 cups of bread cubes sauteed in a bit of shortening. Bake in a hot oven (425 deg. F.) for about 15 minutes and remove when golden brown. Garnish with parsley. Equal parts of grated raw carrots and chopped cabbage make an excellent salad to accompany fricasseed oysters.

Fashion

MY, ISN'T IT NICE to realize that spring is just around the corner, and stop to look at the slim suits and gay hats while we still huddle into that old fur benny! In case you haven't been aware of it, the lovely lady above is wearing just what the designers have ordered: feminine, becoming things to combat the trend to uniforms. The suits, like this one, are softly tailored; this is a light navy wool crepe, with dressmaker touches. With it she wears flattering kolinskis; her hat is a pretty and rich-looking affair of white corded crepe, topped by shining blue-black wings, and when she opens her coat she is wearing an exquisitely lovely lingerie blouse. This season, no brass buttons and military emblems . . . the boys don't like them on us. Ladylike and lovely is the watchword for Easter.—ANNICE BRINK.

COLORFUL SPRING SUIT BOASTS SOFT BLOUSE

By BETTINA BEDWELL

AS THE fashions for Spring step out in a big way, it is evident that the colorful suit with a soft and flattering blouse will be a four-star production in these styles. I particularly like the blended-color suit, of which this model from Villa Zigmund is an example.

The very simple, moulded jacket of smooth wool is a soft chamois yellow color, and the crisply pleated skirt is a grayed green shade.

This is something like the color combination you see in a yellow tulip and its stem, and completely charming to look at.

The soft blouse is a shade of tangerine. It is shirred into a rounded neckline and has full sleeves that are pushed up along the forearms.

By the way, I have noticed that a good many simple suits are sporting pleated skirts

Need of Sacrifice More Urgent

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Monday—Ordinarily, today would be celebrated as a holiday everywhere throughout the country, but the necessities of the present time will make many of us think more seriously of George Washington and his contribution to the founding of this country than any holiday of previous years.

The threat to our country today and to its freedom is more serious perhaps than it has ever been since the days when George Washington, by his calmness and staunch tenacity in the face of disaster, led us in creating a nation. He believed in the ideals on which this nation was based and we must believe in them just as firmly to live through the present period triumphantly.

This is a particularly good time, I think, to read the article in Liberty Magazine of March 7. It is by John Gunther, and is entitled: "Lessons from Inside London." Much that he tells us points the way to the spirit which we must develop here today. He was back from six weeks in London when he wrote this article. It is all the more vivid because what he saw is still fresh in his mind.

He advises us to take bombings calmly, and I suggest that we underscore one sentence on that subject. "A greater enemy than bombs—I speak quite seriously—is boredom."

HE SUGGESTS that we go about blackouts — real blackouts — with caution. I think all of us will agree with him, that once having learned how to put on a blackout, we should not live in an atmosphere of constant darkness at night.

We should take to heart his observations on the acceptance of Russia as an ally by the British. We should remember the following thought:

"The lesson from England is nevertheless clear, striking and obvious that sacrifice is necessary to wage war, that the need of sacrifice becomes more urgent as the war goes on. One striking phenomenon in England is what might be called equality of sacrifice."

I went to the civilian defense rally on Saturday night at Greenbelt, Md., the housing community which Mr. Rex Tugwell had the vision to promote. The meeting was in the schoolhouse, for they have there a real conception of community activity and work. Their Greenbel Community Band gave a very good concert. They had good reports on the work they have done for civilian defense. Better than anything else, I had a sense of community spirit, which is what we must develop now everywhere in our country.

Make Your Own Slip Covers This Spring

All dressed-up and ready to greet spring with a smile—that's the way your rooms will look when you disguise shabby wintry furniture with fresh slip covers. Tailoring your own covers is easy, the pin-on way.

To be truly spring-like, choose a lovely flower-decked chintz—perhaps with creamy magnolias on a rose ground. Then set to work draping your fabric right over the old upholstery.

Remove cushion and cover the inside-back and seat, leaving a 4-inch tuck-in between to relieve strain. As you drape, pin fabric in place where seams will be, then cut 1½ inches outside pins to allow for generous seams.

Pin and cut the rest of the cover the same way, remove carefully and baste. After a try-on, finish seams with welting or binding. As a last step, sew on the skirt. Your cover will look truly smooth, professional!

You can easily slip-cover chairs, love seats, sofas, even chaise longues, with the directions in our 40-page booklet, "Making Slip Covers Successfully." Explains and diagrams each step, from measuring and cutting to fitting and finishing. Tells how to make bound and welted seams; swag and pleated flounces.

Send 15 cents (plus one cent to cover cost of mailing) for our booklet, "Making Slip Covers Successfully," to Boston Evening American, Home Institute, 109 West 19th st., New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

Military experts are virtually unanimous in calling the double pincers movement outlined here as the high strategy of the Axis spring campaign. It's a long distance squeeze of India, predicated on Hitler's long dreamed of Drang Nach Osten through Turkey and Iran, while Japan works west through Burma and across the Indian ocean from Sumatra. Black arrows cross Axis-held land, white arrows indicate moves to come.

AXIS SUB SHELLS COAST OIL WELLS AS F. D. SPEAKS

of the Bankline Oil Company at Elwood, near Goleta:

"At 7:30 p. m. one large submarine came to the surface about one mile off shore and fired approximately 15 shells from a deck gun. One direct hit reached one well, causing minor damage to the pumping unit and derrick.

A War Department communique said 25 rounds of 5-inch shells were fired.)

"There were several close misses on a crude oil storage tank and a gasoline plant. Apparently no damage was caused by these shells. A complete survey of the grounds has not been made and there may have been superficial damage. Whatever other damage is disclosed will not be extensive.

"No fires were started as a result of the firing. No tanks were hit. From fragments of shell found and marks on the ground it is believed a 4 or 5 inch gun was used. The firing was done leisurely, apparently only one gun being used. It required about 25 minutes to fire the approximately 15 shells."

G. O. Brown an oil worker off duty, said the submarine was only a mile offshore and "so big I thought it might be a destroyer or cruiser. I have seen many submarines and this was larger than any of those in the U. S. Navy that I have seen.

"It was lying idly on the surface. Then it began shelling, shot after shot, with great regularity. I counted 12 shells that burst, most of them on the Stanliff place (where Brown lives) and the Barnsdall Oil Co. lease. I spotted the last shell at 7:33 p. m.

"The submarine still lay on the surface. It started to get twilight. I watched it as long as I could distinguish its form and then it grew dark. It didn't submerge and there were no airplanes heard."

Traffic along the coast highway, No. 101, was halted because of the blackout, and Army guards kept the curious from approaching the scene of the attack.

Brown said Barnsdall's main absorption plant, almost on the beach, seemed to be the submarine's objective.

One of the shells whistled three miles inland to the Tecolote ranch, where it exploded. Another cleared the highway and burst in foothills.

Brown said "some of the shells landed awfully close" to the absorption plant, "throwing up geysers of dirt and sand near the building. There must have been 20 or 25 men working in the field and nobody was injured. Their shooting wasn't very good."

Lawrence Wheeler, proprietor of an inn north of the oil field, said he and his patrons felt concussion of the shelling but "some soldiers, who were in my place, said it was probably just target practice."

A bit later, they heard that the field was being attacked and rushed out. Wheeler said they saw the submarine "and flashes of the gun as it went off. One shell whined over my head."

The blackout tied up traffic 25 miles or more inland and was reported "100 per cent effective" by officers.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—The War Department announced today that Army and Navy aircraft and surface vessels have started a search for the enemy submarine which shelled the Bankline Oil refinery near Ellwood, Cal., last night.

The department's communique said damage from the shelling was slight and no casualties were reported. The submarine, apparently Japanese, fired 25 rounds of five-inch shells at the refinery, the department said.

The fact that the submarine off California carried two five-inch guns, informed persons said, indicated that it was one of a fleet of huge, long-range submersibles built by the Japanese in 1939 and 1940.

The Japanese were reported to have 19 of these under water giants.

GRABLE-MATURE-OAKIE MUSICAL COMES TO MET'S SCREEN ON THURSDAY

Royal Hawaiians In Color Film

The triple-threat teaming of Betty Grable, Victor Mature and Jack Oakie in the new 20th Century-Fox technicolor musical, "Song of the Islands," should mean box office records for the Met, beginning Thursday.

Mature goes in for some sweater-wearing himself in this one. Going him one better, "Gams" Grable strips down to a now-you-see-em-now-you-don't shredded-wheat skirt to do the Hilo Hop.

As for Oakie, you and you know he can be depended upon to provide more than his quota of laughs.

Mack Gordon and Harry Owens have written some special songs for the picture, including "O'Brien Has Gone Hawaiian," "What's Buzzin', Cousin," "Sing Me a Song of the Islands" and "Blue Shadows and White Gardenias."

Authentically interpreted by Harry Owens and His Royal Hawaiians, the songs serve as a background for several colorful production numbers featuring a bevy of South Seas beauties swinging and swaying to hula rhythms.

The cast boasts Thomas Mitchell, Billy Gilbert, Hilo Hattie and Lillian Porter.

The co-feature will be "No Hands On the Clock," with Chester Morris and Jean Parker, Rose Hobart, Astrid Allwyn and James Kirkwood are featured.

'GWTW' Back At Loew's Soon

"Gone With the Wind," rated 1941's No. 1 feature release by the country's film reviewers, is scheduled for a return engagement.

David O. Selznick's unforgettable production of Margaret Mitchell's epic of the old South, directed by Victor Fleming and with a brilliant cast headed by Clark Gable and Vivien Leigh, made boxoffice history when it was first shown.

And now Loew's State and Orpheum theaters will show it a third time . . . and soon and at regular prices.

Performances will be continuous from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Loew's management stresses that the picture is to be shown in its entirety and as originally presented.

Abbott-Costello Hit at Beacon

Abbott and Costello, the screen's top comedy team, are disporting themselves merrily on the Beacon screen this week in "Keep 'em Flying," one of their funniest and most successful pictures in a series of funny and successful co-starring films. The other attraction is "Moon Over Her Shoulder," romantic comedy with Lynn Bari and John Sutton.

A SWEATER GIRL AND A SWEATER BOY, who would be Betty Grable and Victor Mature, entangle in "Song of the Islands," new 20th Century-Fox technicolor musical coming to the Met screen on Thursday.

Normandie Bills John Boles Hit

"The Road to Happiness," starring John Boles at the Normandie, was adapted from "First Performance," the story by Matt Taylor which attracted much attention when it was first published in the American Magazine. The picture tells a chapter in the lives of a father and his young son, each striving in his own way to solve a problem.

Though the film is a poignant drama and in no sense a "screen musical," Boles sings several songs.

In addition to little Billy Lee, who plays the role of the son, Boles' supporting cast includes Roscoe Karns, Mona Barrie, Lillian Elliott and Selmer Jackson.

Danielle Darrieux' "I Give My Life," dramatic account of a girl torn between East and West, is the co-feature. The battle scenes of the historic siege of Port Arthur furnish an exciting background for the tragedy which forces the girl to choose between her Russian officer-husband and her Japanese brother. Anton Walbrook, Charles Vanell and Jean Worms are also featured.

RIO-CASINO'S NEW MELODRAMA WINS APPLAUSE

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, TUESDAY, FEB. 24, 1942

Manhattan Revue Now At Blinstrub's Village

By SAM BERENSON

"No, No, A Thousand Times, No.—I'd Rather Die Than Say Yes!" The shrinking heroine shudders. The hero looks noble. The villain mutters in his mustache. And the crowd roars. It's a new, red-hot "meller-drammer" at the Rio Casino tonight. New cast, too. Curtain at 9:00 . . . But the regular merry-merry floor show is presented twice every night, at 7:30 and 11:30.

It's "Floradora Revue" week at the Latin Quarter with the ever popular dancing Pat Rooney as the headliner of a star-studded revue that features the superlative singing of Nellie Durkin, the hilarious dextrous novelties of Bob Dupont, Jack Holst and Milady in an unusual acrobatic presentation, Walter Donahue as master of ceremonies.

For something different it's The Cave and its nice cozy atmosphere, where the food and the music add up to a lot of fun always . . . Steuben's Vienna Room, too, has a charm of its own . . . a touch of the old world, satisfying food and the music of Lew Conrad that stimulates dancing . . . Hub night-club goers will be glad to hear that Lorraine and Rogan are now at RKO-Boston.

Dagmar and her "Dance of the Devil" so impressed the Beachcomber crowds that Tommy Maren's holding over her engagement. Impressive is the word for Dagmar, though some hold out for terrific. Others in the gala cast include top acts, glamorous show girls and two orchestras. A no cover charge policy prevails here at all times.

Blinstrub's Village, "over South," has the Manhattan Revue . . . featuring New York's top notchers in night club entertainment . . . Bossman Blinstrub goes the limit in staking a lavish show . . . Boyd Heathen remains the popular emcee here . . . Peter Hodges and his orchestra, one of the best in these parts, is still getting rumbles of applause just about every time he plays—both for the show and the dance set . . . Cappy's continues to draw 'em from far and wide . . . He's got one of his best bills there this week . . . It's a "name band"

Eric Rhodes, famed film star and singer, heads the smart revue this week at the club Mayfair. An all-star cast supports the movie ace and the lissome "Boots" McKenna line-girls introduce many of the newest dance routines.

The new revue caught on right away with the Cocoanut Grove clients. Not only are the dancing Stapletons the preferred people, but there, too, is Sandor Glanz, world's champion table tennis player, in an unusual novelty, the Buster Klein Chickadees . . . and don't forget Mickey Alpert's grand guest night Thursday.

Another of those gaily-tempo'd revues dances into the Checker Cafe this evening to give patrons of this merry spot one of the Rialto's most colorful attractions. Applause to emcee Manny Malak for excellent show-sparkling. Dancing to Eddie Pilon's able tune-spinning.

Lotsa clubbers find it pays to drive up north to the Lawrence Hofbrau, where Joe Wagenbach faunts the Manhattan Revue and everything nice for the Inner Man.

Manager Creagh of the Hotel Essex reports beak business in the Grill Room. And why not? Here's one of the happiest money's worth in the whole Metropolitan area . . . The usual reliable Essex show and all those lovelies . . . Out Allston way, it's Ribby's Cafe, opposite the railroad station . . . Lotsa fun here, particularly on Monday (Defense Bond Night).

Keith Bennett's Orchestra and Lou Ames Orchestra, are featured at the Silver Dollar. Lou Ames' band is heard nightly in the Blue Terrace Room and the Keith Bennett group is featured in the lounge and also on the daily radio program . . . This week's show in the Blue Terrace Room easily rates as one of the best of the season.

Tassel-Tossing Sally Keith is still tossing the clients right into the aisles at the Crawford House . . . Reason is that Sally's unique. She'e the embodiment of the old circus barker's cry, "She quivers like a peanut on jelly!" . . . Half-Way Cafe in Roslindale has its Defense Bond Night on Wednesdays.

Beautiful Dorothy Lewis, the sensational young lady who has ice-skated her way through four seasons at New York's swank St. Regis Hotel and into the starring role of the movie, "Ice Capades," will come to the Oval room of the Copley-Plaza on Wednesday, the 25th . . . The supporting group of six Hollywood boys and girls which Dorothy brings with her were entirely trained by her . . . Ruby Foo's Den still No. 1 for those who like their suey.

A posie to Eddie Davis of the Fox & Hounds . . . Excellent food, delightful atmosphere and gay dance tunes . . . while in the Rhumba Casino room, Manager Walter Finn presents a topnotch show . . . and its Charlie Wolke at the baton . . . This boy and band are tops and are one of the reasons why this room is clicking . . . Plenty fun waiting for you always at Bob Appleton's Circus Room at the Hotel Bradford—if you're out for something better than peanuts and popcorn.

Charlie Barnett and his band continue to draw 'em from all parts at the Bermuda Terrace of the Hotel Brunswick . . . we highly recommend this orchestra for your dancing . . . Back from Miami is Morey Pearl, at the chic Pop-Eye in Weymouth on the Nantasket road.

Food and drink at the seaside always tastes different, generally better, if you get what you like.

PAT ROONEY, famed tap dancer, is one of the featured stars in the gay ninety revue this week at the Latin Quarter Club. Two shows nightly at 7:30-11:30 p. m.

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by IZZY ORT

I wuz jest wonderin' if the Treasury Department is keepin' up wid the demand for defense stamps. Two minutes ago Charlie Brett, what's doin' a dance quiz in my place every night what pays off in defense stamps, wuz tellin' about defense stamp shows on Sunday nights in towns outside Boston wid actors an' musicians donatin' their talents. Sunday they wuz in Medford where they sold ten grand worth of stamps what ain't hay!

Come over ta my Grill an' try the dance quiz. If ya guess the dances that Brett an' Young do, ya win yaself a batch of defense stamps. Also—ya'll get a barrel of laughs from Daisy the Horse what's here direct from a long run at Hialeah — I mean in New York. Daisy's a lot smarter than some equines I've ogled at race tracks!

I see by the papers that Vichy is havin' a fine time tryin' Daladier, Blum, Gamelin an' company in court. Nobody wants ta take the rap for France losin' the war. Before it's all over, they'll be blamin' a guy by the name of Jake what's been mindin' his own business wid a herd of goats some place in Europe!

I notice the race tracks is stayin' open this year—for morale purposes I suppose. If they really want ta do somethin' for morale, they kin furnish me wid three winners a day in advance. I'll settle for one!

IZZY'S COMMERCIAL

Fer the money, there ain't no better place for fun than Izzy Ort's Grill an' El Tropico Room at 25 Essex St., the gayest gay afternoon an' night spot in town. BUY DEFENSE BONDS TODAY. Advt.

Beverly Flier Lost After Alaska Crash

Parents of Second Lieut. John W. Mountain, Jr., of Mill at., Beverly, and his many North Shore friends today anxiously awaited word from a search for him now in progress near Fort Richardson, Alaska, where his Army plane crashed a few days ago.

Mrs. Mountain said she received a telegram from the War Department announcing that wreckage of her son's plane had been found but there was no trace of him. Lieut. Mountain joined the Army Air Corps in February, 1941. He was graduated from Beverly High in 1934 as the most outstanding scholar-athlete of his class.

Claude Hopkins, Star Of Swing, at Tic Toc

Swing comes to Boston in the grand manner tonight with the debut of the Claude Hopkins' band at colorful Tic-Toc. Here's an engagement that bids well to pack this oasis, for the Hopkins' swingsters have long had the reputation of being one of dancedom's smoothest. A grand take-in for club-goers.

Sparkling Show At Izzy Ort's

Clever dancing and hilarity are the features of the current entertainment at Izzy Ort's Grill and El Tropico Room this week with the usual program of three shows nightly in effect. Chet Boswell, m. c., is featuring the song "Cherokee," well known as Charlie Barnett's theme song. The Grill has continuous entertainment from noon, including the daily radio broadcast. The El Tropico Room offers three different shows and a different atmosphere and adjoins the Grill.

Reds Drive On, Near Smolensk

tack launched at dawn yesterday after hours of artillery preparation, Soviet authorities said.

Massed infantrymen, led by tanks, supported by field guns and covered by planes, headed in force toward Smolensk, a German army base 230 miles west of Moscow, to capitalize on conquests a month earlier in the Mozhaisk sector at their rear and on correlated pincer actions.

Without identifying the sectors, the Soviet information bureau said that one Russian unit had repelled five fierce counterattacks and killed more than 500 Germans; that Red army infantry and cavalry had co-operated to reoccupy 10 settlements, annihilate more than 2500 invaders and take a number of prisoners, and that a Soviet detachment had killed 130 in a foray in which it destroyed three tanks.

Coincident with this activity—developed on the 24th anniversary of the formation of the Red army—it was announced that more than 14,000 Germans had been killed in recent savage fighting in which the Russians captured numerous points on the approaches of a large southwestern city.

(This may have been Kharkov, industrial center 400 miles below Moscow.)

Massive barrages were laid down Sunday, the Soviet radio said, while troops were marshalled for the new thrust toward Smolensk.

The Soviet information bureau said simply:

"Our troops engaged the enemy in stubborn battles and continued to advance, occupying several populated places, including the town of Dorogobuzh."

NAVY SIFTS CHARGES MADE BY REPORTER

played water on the red-hot shell cases until the fire was put out. Being an American, I was proud of this story of courage.

I told the lieutenant so and asked him if he had shot up any of those Japs. He answered it was pretty hard to hit the Japs with the ammunition on board.

ANCIENT U. S. POWDER

I asked why.

He explained that the anti-aircraft ammunition was 1930 and 1931 issue; that when it had been tested a year ago it was found to be only 30 per cent effective.

(An Associated Press Washington dispatch said the Navy said Agronsky's report had come to the attention of Rear Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, chief of the Bureau of Ordnance, and that he was conducting an investigation. Rep. Vinson (D.) of Georgia, of the House naval committee called Blandy to testify at a public hearing tomorrow.

(Authorities said a deficiency in ammunition did not necessarily mean that a shell would fail to fire, but meant, rather, it would not go off with full force. Using ammunition that was only 50 per cent efficient, a gun normally supposed to reach 30,000 feet would fire less than 10,000 feet.

(Pending results of Blandy's investigation, officers here were at a loss to explain the condition described by Agronsky.)

WOULD PUNISH GUILTY

The lieutenant told me it was impossible to range with this type of ammunition, as the bursts were too un-uniform to enable the gunners to work out a fire pattern.

The lieutenant added that he would like to have been able to tie to the foremast of that warship, the gentleman responsible for the U. S. warship being equipped with this type of ammunition.

He made me promise to tell this story to you people at home.

It we hope to stop the Japs, the United States will have to do better than this.

The men fighting in the Far Eastern countries for their defense, and ultimately for the defense of the United States, deserve better of their country than they are getting.

On an isolated air field in the Far East I found a young American pilot in charge. He was a fighter pilot.

OUTPOSTS GUARD CALIFORNIA

He had been grounded following a crash. One finger of his right hand was paralyzed. Because it got in his way he was no longer permitted to fly.

He told me that he would not be on the ground much longer, as he had arranged to have the finger amputated so that he could take a new medical examination, and he was sure that he could pass.

Against this spirit should be put the pronouncement of various American spokesmen that it would be best to keep the majority of the American forces at home to defend America.

Almost every American soldier with whom I have spoken in the Far Eastern theater of war has begged me to try and fight this kind of short-sighted view.

It is the sincere belief of every American observer in this part of the world that first Singapore, then Java, and last Australia, are the outer defense of California.

Navy Denies Age Hurts Powder, Probes Charge

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Rear Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, chief of the Navy's bureau of ordnance, said today that the Navy was using some ammunition made more than a decade ago, but added that "mere age is no criterion of its effectiveness."

He appeared before the House naval committee at an inquiry ordered as a result of a radio report quoting an unidentified naval lieutenant as saying anti-aircraft ammunition aboard his ship in the Pacific was made in 1930 and was only 50 per cent effective.

Blandy said that both he and Navy Secretary Knox were "very seriously concerned" over the report and added:

"I am not going to stop until I get full information."

sea, said he didn't see the torpedoes, but "there were two explosions—just like that" and snapped his fingers sharply.

"It was a terrible shock to me," he said, "but as soon as I gathered my wits I wanted to protect my men. We got ready to leave the ship immediately, as it was taking water fast, and we left within 10 minutes.

"I didn't have to shout any orders. Most of the men were veterans, and everybody kept his head well."

Third Mate Charles A. Fielder, 62, of Houston, was the only member of the crew who reported seeing the enemy submarine.

"It was a whopping big one," he said. "I think it was cruising around to make certain that we didn't try to signal with lights. I believe they would have turned machine guns on us if we had."

Felder, rounding out 47 years as a sailor, was credited with accidentally saving the life of Radio Operator John Samuel Lake, Jacksonville Beach, Fla.

"The third mate," said Lake, "saved my life when he tapped on the window a few minutes before the explosion and invited me to have a cup of coffee. I left the radio room and picked up the cup of coffee.

Meet Gus Who Prints Money!

—By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER—

Distributed by International News Service

I INTRODUCED Gus Giegengack to the New York Advertising Club last week and explained Gus was the public printer of the glorious old U. S. A.

A MEMBER hollered, "does he print the money?"

"Yes," I told him, "and this year he is putting a return address on it."

YOU aren't going to hold your money long, folks, and I suggested to Gus that he might put the eagle on one side and a homing pigeon on the other.

GUS is also printing the rationing cards for sugar, spare tires and that's one time I'm hoping they don't do it alphabetically.

Slain 'Enemy 1's' Gang Hunted

MERIDIAN, Miss., Feb. 24 (AP)—FBI agents fanned out over Neshoba County hills today in a swift roundup of persons suspected of befriending Charles Chapman, Public Enemy No. 1, during the three-year search ended when he was shot to death Sunday night.

Police announced six persons had been jailed here, including Chapman's wife who was not informed of his death, and said that at least 25 might eventually be jailed on suspicion of harboring or aiding Chapman, one of the South's most elusive criminals.

Chapman had robbed banks, filling stations and stores, stolen cars and kidnaped persons, shot law officers and led bloody prison breaks in a half dozen southern states for the last decade. He was labelled public enemy No. 1 on Sept. 9, 1939 by the FBI.

FBI agents by the dozen since hen have dri✱n thousands of miles, laid many traps, and spent many weeks watching suspected hideouts.

FALSE WAR OPTIMISM SCORED

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24 (AP)—Complete realism is necessary to maintain the morale of adults in this war, Sir Gerald Campbell, director-general of British Information Services in America, said in a message to the nation's education executives today.

"Adults will see through false optimism and bogus reassurances," he said. "The more exactly and realistically they envisage the future, the better their morale will be when danger and hardship actually reach them."

Actual danger, he added, is a good stimulant to morale.

In Britain, Sir Gerald said, there have been "few pep talks, no flag-waggling; patriotic slogans have generally been a failure. Largely the "good morale of Britain was already there."

A much larger share of responsibility for maintaining morale rests upon women now than in any previous war, he asserted.

Lieut.-Comdr. Paul Smith, Navy press relations officer, addressing the American Ass'n of School Administrators, said schools could help greatly toward winning the war by emphasizing courses such as mathematics, physics, chemistry and physical education.

He said so many volunteers were underweight, flat-chested, flabby muscled or soft-boned that the Navy had been forced to establish a physical fitness program within its own ranks.

"More than any other ... in history," he added, "this is a war of youth .... The sailor most useful today at the controls of a gun turret is the one who learned instinctively to calculate the speed of traffic as soon as he could walk, and who spent his early boyhood taking part and putting together again the innards of a jalopy."

Ford's New Bomber Factory Gets in Gear

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT, Feb. 24 (Wide World)—Have you ever seen more than 2,500,000 square feet of floor space under one roof of a single-story building?

If you could get enough governmental credentials and passes and prove that you had a real business there you might see this vast covered area at the Ford Willlow Run bomber plant—biggest factory of its kind in the world.

The giant bomber plane for which this $60,000,000 factory has been built weighs nearly as much as the Army's medium tank, the mass production of which the industry already has taken in stride.

You can't find out how many of the huge, high-speed bomber planes will be turned out each day when peak production is reached on the mile of assembly line within the factory; you can learn that they will be counted by the dozens; that many will reach the end of the line ready to fly and that others will be produced in the form of complete sub-assemblies and parts to be shipped for final assembly.

ALL UNITS STANDARDIZED

Every unit that goes into the new bombers has been standardized, so that regardless of where it is fabricated it will fit to the finest tolerances measured within thousandths of an inch.

Bomber planes never were made like this before, chiefly because there never before was any occasion for such technique. They were turned out on a "custom-built" basis, with no two of them exactly alike.

Simplification of every collateral task is the objective of the engineers. Already they have reduced from four hours to not more than 30 minutes the readjustment of fixtures on which sections of the plane are shaped and put together, and in the place of a single fixture several are being set up.

To Henry Ford, who built big trimotored transport planes more than a decade ago and not infrequently mentions the fact that some of them still are in use hauling freight in South America, mass output of the Lombers is just a production problem.

MAY EMPLOY 100,000

When the big factory, destined to revolutionize the aircraft industry attains peak production it will employ between 80,000 and 100,000 persons, perhaps 20,000 of whom will be women. Already a small class of women trainees is receiving daily instruction within the plant.

Yet to be determined is where the thousands of workers and their families will be housed. There are comparatively few houses in the immediate vicinity, most of those currently at work residing nearby or in Detroit and its suburbs, some 20 miles away.

Workers currently employed now reach the plant in their own automobiles or in the limited number of buses available. There are no trailer camps close to the factory.

Some of the discussions of the housing situation have visualized the creation of a new city in the area with a potential population of around 200,000. Such a city would become Michigan's second in size. In opposition to the proposal the argument has been advanced that it would become a "ghost town" with the end of the war.

Hardware Dealers Show Defense Wares

The annual convention of the New England Hardware Dealers opened today at Hotel Statler with many a grim reminder that we are engaged in the sternest kind of war.

Included among the many exhibits were non-combatant gas masks, models of incendiary bombs, stirrup pumps, sand pails, scoops and charts explaining air raid warning signals. There was even a civilian defense officer on duty with a gas "sniff set" for attendants who would like to try a sniff.

Jail Cell Cools Pacifist Ardor, Draft Evader Registers

CHICAGO, Feb. 24 (AP)—David Nyvall, Jr., changed his mind and registered for selective service.

The 20-year-old art student was arrested last Monday on a charge of violating the draft law. Pleading guilty, he said he had refused to register because he had no grudges against the Japanese and "didn't want to kill anybody."

CONTROL! THAT COUGH With CHENEY'S COUGH SYRUP

A SKILLFUL MIXTURE OF

- WHITE PINE
- EUCALYPTOL
- HONEY

with several other useful medical ingredients

HELPS to soothe the racking, exhaust ing cough which weakens you and wears you down. Cheney's Syrup is a skillful blend of necessary ingredients, both sedatives to quiet paroxysms and expectorants to help drainage of the mucous matter.

The effect of these ingredients is to soothe and help heal the inflamed membranes, help loosen the germ laden phlegm and lay a soft, protective coating on the dry and raw spots.

Don't neglect a cough. It may leave you open to more serious trouble. For bronchial coughs, due to colds, inflamed conditions of the throat lining, night coughing, tickling of the throat and irritations of the mucous membrane try Cheney's Cough Syrup.

This is the Mousetrap Maker's Door

This is a Weed

Lots of them are now growing on the mousetrap maker's path. HE REFUSED TO KEEP UP WITH THE TIMES.

This is a Mousetrap Factory

THERE ARE NO WEEDS AROUND IT.

The mousetrap factory advertises. Therefore, many people can buy its mousetraps and buy them in their local stores.

The mousetrap factory makes many mousetraps. Because it makes many, it can make them cheaper.

In this way, people get better mousetraps for less money, and they don't have to go to the mousetrap maker to get them.

This isn't true only of mousetraps. People depend on advertising to find the best values in—

packaged foods toothpaste clothing soap

—almost all the necessities of modern living.

They rely on newspaper advertisements for information about these articles because there they can see them pictured, read about their merits, learn their prices and find out where to buy them.

What's more, people believe this advertising.

ADVERTISERS LIVE IN GOLDFISH BOWLS! The manufacturer or merchant whose advertising isn't honest and consistent won't stay in business long; the readers—who are their neighbors—will stop dealing with them and trade with honest manufacturers and merchants whose dependability is shown by consistent advertising.

When business is better in this town everybody benefits. When everybody in the town knows what's going on all over the world, each man can tell better how to vote, what to buy and how to protect himself.

Read these ads each week. Tell your friends to read them. They tell you what an important part your newspaper has in helping you to know what's going on, so you can decide what you personally are going to do about it all.

The publisher of this paper wants to serve the community the best he possibly can. If you have any suggestions or questions or criticisms don't hesitate to write him a letter. It will receive personal attention.

Bouquet to Unsung War Reporter

THERE IS NO SPORT IN THIS, unless it involves the equal risks and mutual hardships which the modern war-writer shares with the allied soldiery. For the old-fashioned notion that a newspaper man's life is a round of pampered luxury has been pretty thoroughly dissipated by the present war.

Instead of the Richard Harding Davis and Sir Phillip Gibbs type of war reporter who picnicked with the general staff in some cozy billet behind the lines and received his nightly handouts of carefully denatured news, the boys who cover the battlefronts today live on a level with the soldiers, under a constant and deadly deluge of bombs, sniper's bullets, machine gun fire and the risk of capture.

Some have been killed, many have been wounded and all have accepted danger with a hardy fatalism of men who have heard the banjo-twang of passing bullets and the acrid taste of fear's fuzz at the back of the throat. Men like Clark Lee and the half-dozen journalists who followed MacArthur into the bamboo, palm and banana jungles of Bataan.

"I watched a Filipino private worm his snake like way on the flat of his stomach," wrote Lee recently, "He was little larger than a jockey. Minutes later he disappeared into the tangle of tropic bush . . . There was the sharp crack of a rifle, a shrill, animal-like squeal and the sound of something tumbling through tree branches. And presently I saw the Filipino squirm back through the heavy grass . . . He had gotten his Jap sniper."

Such things as that! We of the old A. E. F. used to see, through the eyes of envy of course, the old time war correspondents whirl past the rear areas in a comfortable Rolls Royce or Fiat. Their tailoring was magnificent. Their screeds were written largely by hearsay. They were creatures disembodied from the reality of war. Or so they seemed.

A Boston Boy Is Missing

NOT OF COURSE THAT THEIR BREED WAS, basically, any different than the newspaper breed of today. Merely that the tempo and terror of war is different. Thus from Batavia, Netherlands Indies, Yates McDaniel writes the saga of his last minute escape from Singapore, on the last vessel to leave. "In my seven-and-one-half day journey," he writes, "I had to abandon a bombed ship, was cast up on an uninhabited island, made my way through a storm in a small launch to Sumatra, crossed the mountain wilds by foot and pony cart, skirted enemy patrols constantly and completed 1200 roundabout miles through the Indian Ocean on a battered destroyer." Things like that!

Many of the newsmen may never see their homeland again, among them perhaps Carl Mydans, a graduate of Boston University who, with his wife and collaborator, Shelley, was last heard from in Manila the day after Christmas. "Christmas morning was very quiet," read his final dispatch, as the Jap troops inched into the city's outskirts and the American and Filipino troops withdrew to consolidation in the jungles. "Constant raids kept us close to our base. We opened our presents under a tiny tree in our room while Filipino serenaders below sang 'God Bless America' and gave us the toast of the day. 'May this be the worst Christmas we ever spent.' Christmas night we can laugh because we are still free."

After that the curtain of silence was drawn. Where they are and what happened none knows.

When the American Asiatic fleet stole swiftly upon the Jap-held Gilbert and Marshall Islands last month there were several U. S. reporters and camera men scattered among the raiding ships. They had fought earnestly for the privilege of recording the action and accepting the inherent risks. At Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, a press photographer, official card in his hat band, roved the harbor front, snapping pictures during the beight of the Jap assault. The pictures were later published in almost every U. S. daily. You saw them.

Some Do in Deep Zero

ON THE RUSSIAN FRONT, IN SUB ZERO weather that often runs 70 degrees below freezing, Ralph Parker and his innumerable American colleagues have braved 80 MPH blizzards, traveling by sleds, eating frozen food and sleeping in typhus infested quarters, to write the horrific story of German retreat. Sometimes, on a front where Russian and German lines were hazy matters of inter-mixed guerilla bands, they were deep behind the Nazi lines.

Frank Gervasi, American magazine featurist, has crossed the ocean from Bermuda to Britain on a bomber, has ridden an Australian tank in the battle of Libya, escaped from Crete a scant few hours ahead of the Nazi parachute assault, has ridden the submarine

RED SOX ADVANCE GUARD OFF FOR TRAINING CAMP

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, TUESDAY, FEB. 24, 1942

FRANK SHELLENBACK HERB FINNEGAN HUGH DUFFY JOE CASHMAN

Starting 1942 Baseball Parade

By HERB FINNEGAN

It was not long after dawn this morning (8:20) when the advance guard of the Red Sox left the South Station for their training base in Sarasota, Fla. Because of the eerie departing hour and the fact that there were no ball players in the party, there was no bargain basement crowd mulling around. Yet among the baseball men and writers on hand, there was a distinct ray of optimism as they looked forward to first practice Thursday and to the 1942 American League season.

This is the year of the GREAT EXPERIMENT. Nobody knows whether the season will be finished, or how long it will last. Many ball players have been called into the service since the '41 campaign, and many will follow from month to month this year.

FIFTH SEASON FOR DOERR

The Sox already have donated Pitchers Mickey Harris, Emerson Dickman and Earl Johnson, first baseman Al Flair and farm hand Pitcher Larry Powell to Uncle Sam, and Ted Williams is expected to follow shortly.

Yet despite all this and the fact that Johnny Pesky may also be shouldering a gun shortly, there was reason for optimism as the group took off.

First of all, the Sox will have their finest defensive infield in years with either Pesky or Eddie Pellagrini at short and Ulysses Lupien at first.

Where Joe Cronin had slowed up perceptibly at short and Jimmie Foxx at first, these youngsters will cover ground with celerity, making the pitchers happier for one thing.

Jim Tabor, now 26 and starting his fourth season as a Sox regular, should blossom out as the best third baseman in the league.

CRONIN, FOXX PUNCH NEEDED

Bobby Doerr, only 24, but starting his fifth season as a regular, will be a better second baseman than he was a year ago.

Bobby will be the key man of the infield, shouldering a new responsibility with rookies at short and first. This added responsibility will make him a better ball player, because in previous years his personality, if nothing else, was dwarfed by the "name players" on either side of him.

Cronin, for example, was the league's most valuable player as far back as 1930, Foxx as far back as 1932. A kid like Doerr couldn't very well blast such lions out for not covering their share of ground.

The outfield won't be so bad, even with Williams gone. No outfield will be below standard defensively as long as Dom DiMaggio is in center. Finney is a steady ball player, who is due to have a good

24th Trip South For Sox Secretary

Philip Troy, traveling secretary of the Red Sox, was starting his 24th spring training trip when he led the Sox vanguard out of the South Station this morning bound for Sarasota.

The Dorchester Beau Brummel, apparently still in his 30's though he served in the Navy during World War 1, has been connected with major league baseball in Boston longer than any other single individual—yes, longer than Hughey Duffy or Bob Quinn.

Phil started his baseball career way back in 1911 as a telephone boy at Fenway Park. He hopped over to the Braves in 1915 as a stenographer to Walter Hapgood, secretary for the Braves. In 1915 he was President Percy Haughton's private secretary and remained in that capacity until he was appointed traveling secretary two years later.

Like many of the ball players of that era, Phil dropped everything to enlist in the Navy, then picked up where he left off in 1919. He remained with the Braves as traveling secretary through 1927.

In 1928 he and Dick Rudolph tried to restore life to the Waterbury franchise in the old New England league, but the patient didn't respond to treatment.

After a series of head-aches in Waterbury, he came back to Boston in 1929, the last year of Bill Cardigan's comeback regime. Traveling secretary was his job, and traveling secretary is still his job.

Boudreau Changes Indians' System

(By the Associated Press)

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 24—Traveling Secretary Leo Ward of the St. Louis Cardinals was hanging around today with his fountain pen filled, ready to do business with Pitchers Harry Gumbert, Max Lanier and Murray Dickson.

The trio missed the Cardinals' first drill because they were unsigned, but no serious disagreements have been reported.

EL CENTRO, Cal.—The Pittsburgh Pirates wasted no time in staging their first workout. Hardly had the train stopped yesterday before Manager Frankie Frisch led his 25 hopefuls to the ball park.

Coach Honus Wagner, who celebrated his 68th birthday anniversary Monday, will leave Pittsburgh Saturday with the second batch of Pirates.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—Manager Lou Boudreau says that for the first time in at least 20 years the Cleveland Indians will split their daily workouts during the first week with calisthenics and pepper games in the forenoon and batting drills after lunch.

"Certainly no one can deny that we can stand some improvement in our hitting department," commented the young chieftain.

HAVANA—Freak accidents are causing some concern among the Brooklyn Dodgers. First, Alex Kampouris, utility infielder, suffered a broken finger when a bat slipped from Catcher Mickey Owen's hand.

Latest victim is rookie Outfielder Tom Tatum, who was watching a Cuban marksman in a shooting gallery and was hit in the eye by a piece of steel.

The fragment was easily removed. It is believed the sliver came from the gun's barrel.

ANAHEIM, Cal.—Connie Mack is knee deep in infield problems for his Athletics. Catcher Frankie Hayes, Third Baseman Louis Blair and Infielder Jack Wallaesa have been ordered to take it easy because of injured knees.

• • •

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Ken Sears, young catcher up from Newark of the International League, swung at six pitches by Vernon Gomez without so much as a loud foul.

"Which one of you is kidding?" asked Joe McCarthy, manager of the New York Yankees.

AVALON, Cal.—Kiki Cuyler, former Chicago outfielder and now a coach, has been assigned the task of teaching Lou Novikoff how to run instead of waddle.

"He throws all his efforts to the sides when he runs instead of reaching forward with his legs," moaned Kiki of the mad Russian's stiff-legged prance.

MIAMI, Fla.—There was only one disturbing note in the camp of the New York Giants: Bill Jurges, who lives within hunting distance of the Polo Grounds, hasn't appeared for practice or given any indication when he expects to arrive.

General Manager Bill Terry says he doesn't know if Jurges is a holdout or just has an out-of-date calendar.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Del Baker, Detroit manager, thinks Dick Wakefield, the former University of Michigan outfielder who signed for a reported $45,000, has improved "50 per cent over last year.

"But," added Baker, "he still has a long way to go."

ORLANDO, Fla.—It was a ball player's Christmas in the camp of the Washington Senators today with the athletes slugging away happily at the offerings of a mechanical pitcher which never missed the plate. Jack Wilson, former Red Sox burler, arrived in camp and completed the roster of battery men except for Dutch Leonard, a holdout.

Hextall Leads Ice Scorers For 10th Week

MONTREAL, Feb. 24 (AP)—For the tenth straight week, Bryan Hextall of the New York Rangers is at the top of the National Hockey League scoring standings.

One assist during the week pushed his total to 46 points, 21 goals and 25 assists. He remains two points ahead of Phil Watson, his linemate, and four in the van of Lynn Patrick, third member of the high-powered Ranger line.

Detroit's Don Grosso replaced Bill Thoms of Chicago in fourth place.

Pat Eagan of Brooklyn added 10 minutes to his discredit and continues as the league's badman with a total of 83 minutes in the penalty box.

Player. Club	G.	A.	Pts.
Hextall, New York	21	25	46
Watson, New York	14	30	44
Patrick, New York	23	19	42
Grosso, Detroit	19	20	39
Thoms, Chicago	13	25	38

Higbe Decides To Join Club

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 24 (AP)—Kirby Higbe, Brooklyn's star pitcher, has decided to leave the Mrs. in Miami and join the Dodgers' spring training camp at Havana.

The Columbia, S. C., right-hander, who won 22 games in 1941, declined to accompany the squad to Havana last week when club officials said players' wives couldn't go along.

Higbe will leave Wednesday.

OrmsbyMissing From Roster

CHICAGO, Feb. 24 (AP)—No introductions will be necessary before American League managers start scowling at the umpires this season.

The staff, as announced yesterday by President William Harridge, is the same as last year's except that the veteran Emmett "Red" Ormsby, who retired last fall, will be missing, leaving 12 instead of 13 judges on the staff of umpire-in-chief Tommy Connolly.

Market Wise and Mioland Fit

MARKET WISE AND Mioland appear to have a little something on the big name horses in Florida. Market Wise looked impressive winning the McLennan Memorial Handicap, while Mioland displayed plenty of speed earlier in the week in a race at Hialeah.

War Relic once more proved a failure in the McLennan. Samuel Riddle's crack thoroughbred, who as a three-year-old won the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap and the $25,000 Narragansett Special, has failed to impress in his races so far this season. War Relic has too much class to have gone back a great deal, and it is likely that the famous son of Man O' War will soon turn in one of his top races.

The Flamingo will be the feature at Hialeah Park on Saturday, while a week from Saturday the $50,000 Widener Cup race will be held as Hialeah closes its meeting. As you read these lines, this writer will be on the way to Florida to see the Flamingo and the Widener.

I shall be on the same train with the Red Sox as far as Jacksonville, and I shall have an opportunity to pick up a few baseball stories.

My agents inform me that Florida is experiencing a late winter business boom. Tourists are hurrying to Florida from all parts of the country, and it is expected that the season will not be as great a bust as was at first expected.

Racing is the only thing in Florida that has not been severely injured by the war. Tropical Park and Hialeah have had good seasons. The fact there has not been any racing in California has helped Florida. The regular racegoers, who would have wintered in California if the military authorities had not closed down racing in that state, are now in front of the clubhouse and grandstand at Hialeah trying to pick winners.

When Santa Anita closed, the managements of the Florida tracks declared they would not give stall space to horses that had not originally planned to race in Florida. They should have added this ruling would only apply to the unimportant stables. Since then all of the leading stables that wished have been able to get stall space at Hialeah Park and Tropical Park.

Story of Gehrig

Over the week-end I read most of Frank Graham's story of Lou Gehrig. This is the best story about the famous Yankee star that has yet been written. It contains numerous "inside" stories about Lou, and is jammed with human interest.

For more than 20 years Frank Graham has been one of the leading sports writers in the country. While Graham has specialized in baseball, he frequently covers a heavyweight championship bout, a golf tournament, tennis match, a major horse race or some other top sports event. At the present Frank is writing a column for the New York Evening Sun.

Gehrig was a silent man while in baseball, and as a result he was not as well known to the public as Ruth. I believe Lou also felt that Ruth was more suited to the limelight spot than himself, and that he intentionally kept in the background.

Gehrig might have passed out of baseball without getting the attention he deserved if it had not been for his tragic death.

It is pleasing to have a writer as gifted and as well informed write the story of the real Gehrig. This book will give everyone an opportunity to know Lou's life better.

Welsh-Chimmy

Matchmaker "Rip" Valenti of the Goodwin A. C. will stage a 12-round bout between Henry Chmielewski and Coley Welsh for the middleweight championship of New England at the Garden next month. Chmielewski recently outscored Frankie Nelson of Roxbury who was rated highly by ring experts, while Welsh has been showing in New York and Chicago rings.

I saw Welsh in his recent bout with Ernie Vigh in the New York Garden. The decision went to Vigh, but in the opinion of this writer and that of most of the fans at the ringside Welsh won. Vigh caught the eyes of the judges by a last minute rally.

Welsh is a boxer who can also hit sharply, while Chmielewski is a wide open puncher. This combination always makes an interesting tussle.

The large and enthusiastic crowd at the recent Wilson-Denner bout proved that Boston will support the right kind of a ring attraction. It looks as if Jack O'Brien will succeed in signing Denner and Wilson for a return bout. There was so much controversy over the 2 to 1 split decision in favor of Denner that a return bout is the only way to decide which boxer is the better.

A 12, rather than a 10-round bout would also add to the interest in a return tussle.

Denner showed in the first four rounds of the bout that when he carried the battle to Wilson he was the superior boxer. Later when Abe permitted Wilson to lead first the West End youth did not look so impressive.

RETURNS—Herbie Cain, of the Bruins, will see action for the first time in several weeks tonight against the Rangers at the Garden.

Baseball Prexy Sees Huge Sum For Defense

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 24 (AP)—Alvin Gardner, Texas League president, scents a half-million-dollar windfall for defense bond salesmen in professional baseball.

Here's how he figures:

Abolish the office of Judge W. G. Bramham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues. Revenue released for defense bonds, $25,000, Bramham's salary, plus $80,000, cost of operating his office.

Divert the sinking fund of the Association of Professional Baseball Leagues to defense bonds, total $261,000.

Tap 50 per cent of baseball salaries above $7500, invest baseball surpluses and a chunk of World Series receipts.

Gardner and Bramham have engaged in a porlonged dispute over whether baseball is making any contribution to the war effort. Gardner says it isn't; that is, except the Texas League, which plans to hold eight Franklin D. Roosevelt Nights for the benefit of the Red Cross.

The judge counters with: "Baseball is doing its part and has been commended for it." But the Texas League prexy wants him to be more specific.

Concerning his suggestion to abolish the judge's office, Gardner said the post duplicated that of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis of the major leagues, and that 75 per cent of the minor league teams were owned by the majors.

Dit Clapper Returns To Pilot B's Tonight

By BILL GRIMES

Aided by a pair of crutches and a couple of porters, "Dit" Clapper hobbled off a Toronto train this morning at the Huntington ave. station, ready to handle the Bruins tonight against Rangers at the Boston Garden.

Three weeks ago last Saturday, Clapper severed his Achilles tendon when he crashed into Bob Goldham at the side boards in Maple Leaf Gardens. After two weeks in the General Hospital at Toronto, Clapper returned to his home at Hastings, Ont.

He wasn't due to report here for another week. But after the Bruins lost to Chicago and Americans, he began to develop the jitters. Against the advice of his physician, he decided to rejoin his teammates.

Just prior to the accident which may have ended his active career as a player, Clapper had been appointed assistant coach by Manager Art Ross.

CAIN RETURNS TONIGHT

So, Assistant Coach Clapper will direct the Bruins from the bench tonight. The return of the popular veteran should spark the Rossmen tremendously. For years, Clapper has been the idol of all Bruin players. He has been the leader, Veteran as well as rookie has followed his lead.

Clapper's return was well timed. The Bruins are being revamped. Injuries took Bill Cowley, Herbie Cain and Clapper from their ranks. Then, the Krauts entered the Royal Canadian Air Force, which reduced the roster to a mere skeleton. Like Clapper, Cowley is through for the season but Cain will return to the firing line tonight.

Just before the Krauts departed, Ross brought up Jack McGill, Clare Martin and Lloyd Gronsdal from the Olympics, Phil Hergersheimer from the Chicago Blackhawks and Gordie Bruce, Frank Mario and Jack Shewchuk from Hershey. Hergersheimer and Mario have returned to Cooney Weiland, the former to get in condition and the latter for more seasoning.

Since the Krauts pulled out, Ross has shuffled his entire club. He has two new center ice men, "Flash" Hollett and McGill, and has only two of his original defense men at their old posts, Des Smith and Jack Crawford.

HOLLETT'S A "NATURAL"

Hollett is the play maker for Bruce and "Dutch" Hiller; McGill is flanked by Roy Conacher and Eddie Wiseman; and "Stoney" Jackson is centering for Cain and Gronsdal.

Hollett's a "natural." Despite the fact that most of his career has been spent on the defense, "Flash" has been a sensation at center ice. He's the fastest and most powerful skater on the roster and more-

SCHNEIDER DIRECTS LARGEST SKI SCHOOL

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

One of the largest ski schools in the country, in regards to both the number of pupils as well as the number of instructors, is the famed Eastern Slopes Ski School now under the direction of the renowned meister, Hannes Schneider.

This school was born several years ago when Carroll Reed conceived the idea of bringing Benno Rybizka over from the Austrian Tyrol to teach the Arlberg system at Jackson, N. H. The lure of learning to ski correctly soon spread with great rapidity, and beginners began flocking to this region in order to attend the classes.

Shortly after this renaissance, Harvey Gibson managed to get Hannes Schneider out of a concentration camp and had him come to North Conway, N. H. With Rybizka as his first assistant, Schneider set up the Eastern Slopes Ski School, now a by-word in skiing circles.

There are more than a score of certified instructors in this school. Here are Ski Sportraits on four of them:

Arthur Doucette . . . Back in 1929, Art attempted his first run on the hickories down — of all places—Mount Washington. He was on the original staff of ski school instructors and went to St. Anton, Austria, with five other local boys in 1937 for intensive training at the Hannes Schneider School. Art makes his home and does his instructing at Jackson, where he is also secretary of the Jackson Tennis Club, possessing a smashing serve. He is a native of Livermore Falls, Maine, and attended school in Canada.

Francis Savard . . . Fran is a real native of North Conway. He tells us that he has been skiing since he was six or seven and we'd guess that he is about thirty. Like Doucette, Fran also went to Austria for training under Benno Rybizka. During the off-season, Fran assists his father in their popular store. A graduate of Kennett, he played football and baseball with the varsity and can shoot par golf when he is trying.

• • •

Don McKenney is Conway's contribution to the ski school. Active in winter sports for years, Don served as president of the Conway Ski Club for several years and promoted many of their winter carnivals. He has been instructing for Herr Schneider for three years, and keeps in shape during the summer on the town police force.

• • •

Herman Ostermaier, a native of Munich, has been on the staff for three years, and has been telling pupils how to bend their knees for over a decade. He had an enviable record as an amateur racer in Europe and has instructed in the French, Austrian, Swiss, Italian and Bavarian Alps — including the Scandinavian. He literally jumped from Alp to Alp, and even taught the art of schussing in Spain. Herman is now at the Cranmore branch of the school, but has been located previous seasons at Jackson and Pinkham Notch.

RED SOX LEAVE FOR SARASOTA

year after his unfortunate spring slump of 1941. Pete Fox can still travel despite his 33 years.

What of Cronin and Foxx?

It's a cinch both will see plenty of action in various capacities.

Their hitting is needed, both of them can be used in the outfield. Both can play third base if Tabor is injured. Foxx can play first or even take a shot at catching. Yes, the Sox are pretty well off for material, even pitching, even though they have lost Harris, Johnson, Dickman and Powell.

But it's in morale that we believe they will gain more than in any other single department. And mostly from the departure of Grove and Wilson.

WILL BE HAPPIER TEAM

Grove, as the world knows, was no team man. He never was overly fond of Manager Cronin either, and whether he had reason for the coolness or not, the fact remains that the Sox should be a happier crew without him, because there will be no cliques in the club.

Wilson, too, was no promoter of good-will. Other pitchers on the club were extremely jealous of him. He was getting approximately $10,000 a year and wasn't earning half of it. Last year, for example, he won only four games.

It will be a happier Red Sox outfit than at any time in the past six years. And with everybody pulling for each other, and all pulling for the team, they might go the places they've been promising to go for six years now!

N. H. Vaulter, Jumper Far From His Ceiling

By FRANK McGRATH

He floats through the air with the greatest of ease does A. Richard "Boo" Morcum, University of New Hampshire sophomore from Braintree, and it's hard to believe he's only a novice flier.

But though he is the new possessor of both the high jump and pole vault records of the N. E. A. A. U., his quiet coach, Paul Sweet, Olympic star of the '20's, insists that Braintree "Boo" is far from his peak.

Morcum has just smashed the high jump and pole vault marks of Allan Swartz and Harvard's Oscar Sutermeister at Tufts gymnasium, soaring 14 feet, 1 inch in the pole vault and clearing 6 feet, 6 inches in the high jump.

FAR FROM HIS CEILING

Watching his amazing exhibition with evident satisfaction was Sweet.

"What do you think of that performance, Paul?" he was asked.

"Fine," said Sweet, "but nothing compared to what he's capable of doing."

"Just what is he capable of doing?" Sweet was asked.

"Who can tell? He's just starting to come into his own. Every day he reports for practice he shows an improvement. You can't place a ceiling on that boy yet."

And despite Morcum's brilliant showing, followers of the Braintree star believe with Sweet that "Boo" must still be a considerable distance from peak performance.

Just turned 20, Morcum, while nicely built, has not yet attained his full development. He figures to add another inch or two to his lanky frame and another 10 pounds or so, rightly placed, won't hurt.

Then, too, it must be remembered that he's only had a year of expert coaching, and Sweet, incidentally, is an expert coach.

WATCH HIM IN NATIONAL

For, oddly enough, Morcum taught himself how to jump and vault in the rear yard of his own home, with improvised standards and poles and it wasn't until he reported for freshman track at Durham last year that "Boo" was taught those tricks of the trade that add inches to a competitor's performance.

He's a natural, of course, and before Sweet ever set eyes on him he could do 13½ feet in the vault and better six in the jump.

But this season those marks have gone steadily upward, and right now he looks like New England's first 15-foot vaulter and the next national and world's high jump champion.

Watch his work in the National championships at Madison Square Garden next Saturday night.

BOUQUET TO WAR REPORTERS

infested waters of three oceans, was twice bombed out of quarters during the London blitz.

The New York Herald Tribune's ace lost his life while accompanying a British bomber on a raid over the Italian lines in Albania. Three other Americans were wounded during the German invasion of Yugoslavia. One was rescued after the Prince of Wales was sunk by Jap torpedo bombers in the South China Sea. Another was saved when a British plane carrier was riddled off Malta.

Thus it goes with the modern was correspondent, no longer the swashbuckling, sartorial, luxuriating character as he was pictured by Hollywood. Today, in the line of his routine work, he must go where the front line soldiery go, partake of their potluck, accept their risks and, somehow, if fortune is kind, send back his dispatches. Today no Commando party sneaks out from England without its quota of reporters. No troop convoy leaves Halifax without its reporter. When the saga of this holocaust is written there will be, perhaps, a chapter to the non combatant men who toted their toy typewriters and exposed their skins where every human savary ran rampant. They do it as the soldiers do it, in line of duty with their one obedience to the inexorable command, "Bring in the news."

All-Star Sixes May Play Off Holiday Tie

Negotiation are underway to bring about a return meeting between the Bay State and Eastern Mass. Scholastic All-Stars who battled to overtime draw, 3-3, at the Arena on the Holiday.

If arrangements can be made the teams may place preliminary to the Olympics-Baltimore game at the Garden Friday night.

Further arrangements may be made which will bring together the Bay State-Eastern winner and the Greater Boston League All-Stars who were just beaten, 3-2 by Catholic High of Montreal at the Garden. The latter proposed game would be played Saturday preliminary to the second Olympic-Baltimore game.

It took the best the Canadians had to down the home team which when the game ended was swarming the Catholic citadel—even with Melrose's Ed Cahoon in the coop.

Andy Perron, a youngster who is on the professional Canadians' negotiating list, slammed two of the Catholic teams three goals.

Rindge Tech's Bob Verrier broke the ice for the Stars, scoring in the fifth minute of the opening period.

Jack Morrow tied the count for the visitors and Perron's first goal sent the Flying Frenchmen out front in the second period.

Perron countered again in the final period and it was well that he did—for Belmont's Ray McInnes drove a second goal for the Stars in the game's dying moments.

Charlie Butler, Waltham, saved the Bay State League, when he skated the length of the Arena rink and fired the tying goal with but one second remaining.

POLO SERIES IN APRIL

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 24 (INS)—The United States, Argentina and Mexico will play a polo series in Mexico City in April, the Mexican Polo Ass'n announced today.

PIGS SPARKED BY RETURN OF OLD STAR

The Olympics returned home for the first time i more than two weeks and, according to many observers who saw them deadlock the Atlantic City Sea Gulls 2-2 in the holiday night c sh at the Garden, they stil have an excellent chance of finishing the season on top of the Eastern League.

Coach Hago Harrington's revamped crew, playing before the home fans for the first time since the club lost four of its aces, Jack McGill, Clare Martin and Lloyd Gronsdal to the Bruins and Jake Wade to Hershey, showed plenty of promise.

GUIBORD RETURNS

During the 70 minutes of play, Harrington shifted two of his lines continually in order to find the right combinations.

A surprise player who received a big ovation when his name was announced was Paul Guibord, former Dartmouth and Olympic star from Melrose, who discarded his uniform at the close of last season.

Guibord again donned his No. 4 jersey which this year was worn by Gronsdal, and teamed with Ray Chaisson and Al Dumond. The clever stickhandler gave a brilliant performance, flashing his old time speed and showing the fans he hasn't slowed down a bit.

TWO NEW PLAYERS

He was one of the outstanding players of the game and assisted on the Olympics' first goal.

Two other new players were Bill Hagblom of the Junior Olympics who teamed with Russ Priestly of Melrose, who teamed with Johnny Fitzgerald.

Junie Allen, another former Pic, was back and worked well with Gerry Desrosiers and Dan Sullivan.

Harrington is still far from satisfied with his present crew, but expects them to come along—and fast.

Twice they were forced to come from behind to gain a deadlock with the Sea Gulls, the first tie for Atlantic City this season.

Harvard Bows To Army Quint

The Harvard varsity basketball team was defeated by Army, 46-38, in a see-saw contest played in the Harvard indoor athletic building.

Stocky five foot five George Rebh was the big gun in the soldiers' attack. Although the tiny redhead was dwarfed by the Crimson players, his well-distributed 11 points pulled the cadets up even twice and then sent them ahead early in the second period.

Ross Nurses Bruins For Stretch Drive

Although he failed to lift the title, Harold Kaese, University Club, established Dick Wakeman as a prophet by going to the finals of the 34th national squash racquets championships in Buffalo.

Four years ago, Wakeman stated that Kaese was the most promising squash rackets player in the Bay State . . . After dropping the first two sets to Charlie Brinton, the defending champion, "The Phantom" (Kaese) squared the match but his 22-year-old opponent had too much stamina for him in the fifth and deciding test.

Manager Art Ross is nursing along his Bruins for the drive down the N. H. L. home stretch. He has revamped the entire club and believes his boys will begin to click in about a week or ten days . . . It will be a great tribute to their gameness if the Rossmen finish within mailing distance of Rangers and Maple Leafs. On January 20, they lost Bill Cowley and 11 days later, "Dit" Clapper went the way of all good men. Then, two weeks ago, the Krauts, Bobby Bauer, Milt Schmidt and Woody Dumart entered the armed forces of Canada . . . It requires an over abundance of intestinal fortitude for any club to carry on after losing five such valuable key men . . . At present, the Bruins are "tight." They are trying too hard to meet with success. However, once they loosen up, the Rossmen will give Rangers, Toronto and Chicago plenty of worthwhile opposition.

Dit Clapper

Dit Clapper should receive a grand ovation when he appears on the Bruin bench at the Boston Garden tonight. He arrived here this morning from his home at Hastings, Ont., where he rested up for a week after being discharged from the General Hospital at Toronto . . . According to reports from Ontario, Clapper was a poor patient. He was so anxious to rejoin the Bruins that he made life miserable for everyone. His return will be just the tonic the Bruins need to start clicking as of old. His presence on the bench will give confidence to all of the Bruins, particularly the youngsters, who idolize him both on and off the ice.

Joe Cashman, Record baseball expert, was obliged to slide to make the 8:20 train for Sarasota this morning. For years, Joe has been a stranger to all hours between 9 and 11 a. m. . . On the other hand, Herb Finnegan, who "covers" for the American, made the train with plenty to spare. He was smart. He went from his club, the Barsanti A. C., to the South Station . . . Cashman and Finnegan will be on their good behavior at least as far as Jacksonville, for their boss, Jack Conway, is on the train, headed for Palm Beach, no less . . . Dr. William R. Rose is making his 21st trip to a Red Sox training camp . . . Arthur Wilband is the only other royal rooter en route to Sarasota. But, in about two weeks, Joe Geary, the No. 2 fan, Joe Burke, Joe Gillis and Mayors John Carr of Medford and John H. Corcoran of Cambridge will be on their way.

Mike Costello of the Bruins' publicity department is a "flu" victim. He developed a chill during the B. A. A. track meet and missed pneumonia by a narrow margin. He's on the road to recovery and will be back on the job within a week.

STAR ERIK RHODES, SAYS "ADVICE BY JOHN WARNER INSURES AGAINST BALDNESS"

Erik Rhodes, famous stage and screen star, now playing at the Mayfair, knows that his good head of hair is a real asset. Naturally he consults John E. Warner, as have so many leaders in every field.

You may not be a celebrity in the public eye, but your hair, too, is a real asset, for the world today puts a high premium on personal appearance. It will pay you to find out the true condition of your hair and scalp. A private consultation with John E. Warner and Associates is always without charge or obligation and if your case is accepted for treatment you can be reasonably sure of saving and improving your hair.

The offices of John E. Warner and Associates are conveniently located at Suite 320, Little Building, corner of Boylston and Tremont Streets. Fees for treatment are very moderate and are payable as the treatments are taken—not in advance. Hours 10 a. m. to 8 p. m., daily—Saturdays to 6 p. m. Phone Hub. 1705. There is a separate department for women.

CLAPPER PILOTS BRUINS

over he has set up some clever plays for Bruce and Hiller.

McGill is living up to expectations. Less than a month ago, he was brought up from Hago Harrington's Olympics. He has poise, hockey brains and fits into the Bruin picture very nicely.

FOUR POINTS OFF PACE

Jackson, who frequently filled in for Milt Schmidt on the Kraut line, has had more experience as a playmaker than Hollett and McGill. He's a far better hockey player than the general public realizes.

With Cain available, Ross may decide to use "Busher" Jackson either on defense in place of Clare Martin or at right wing. "Busher" has been an asset to the Bruins and his play is improving rapidly for he's just now rounding into condition, after a layoff of almost a full season.

After losing four straight verdicts, the Rangers snapped out of their slump at home Sunday night at the expense of the Blackhawks, when Hubert Macey, playing his first professional hockey game, scored two goals to beat the Windy City outfit, 3 to 2.

Since their last appearance here, the Bruins have dropped back into third place due to setbacks by Chicago and Americans. But, they are still only four points out of first place and one game behind the second place Maple Leafs.

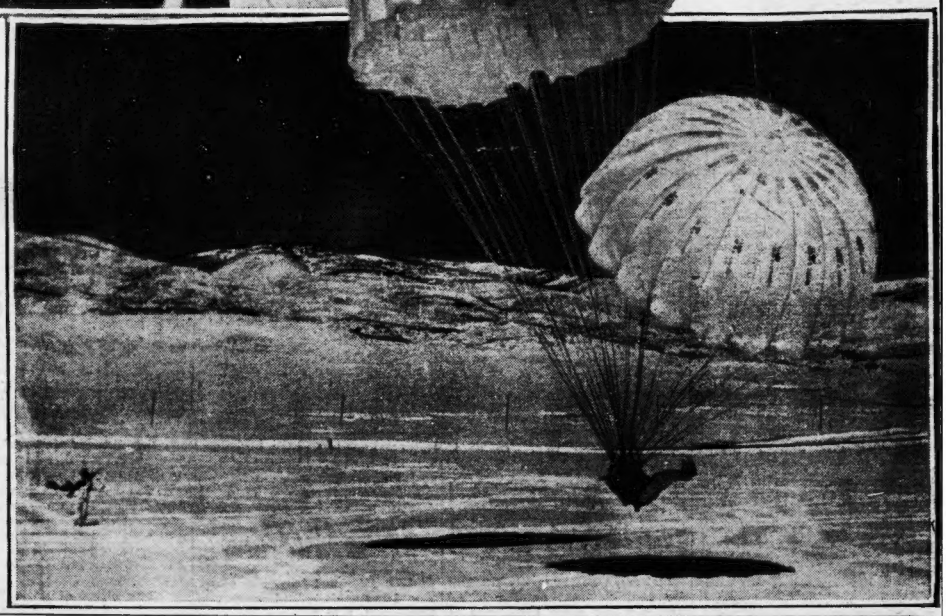
Altitude gained, this para-ski trooper starts his jump . . . space ahead. Now No. 3 . . .

1. War Training

Newest twist in war comes to the front at Alta, Utah, where parachute and ski troopers are trained. Photo above shows the training plane getting altitude for the drop of the parachute soldiers, who will don skis on landing and move for their objective. And upper right . . .



3. Landing—All possible precautions against disaster are taken in the training of para-skiers . . . for when the regular 'chute of this trooper ripped a seam, he had an emergency 'chute to insure his soft landing. Guns and skis are dropped by other 'chutes. Army says it takes a month's intensive training to turn out a para-skier.
